Story Of Hard Work In Siberia's Fields Told By Native Of Chicago

CHICAGO, March 5—Her hands calloused and hard from seven months of hard work in the fields of northwestern Siberia, Mrs. Olga Kochanski was back in her native Chicago today with a harrowing tale of 18 months she spent as a virtual prisoner in Russia following the Russian-German invasion of Poland.

Mrs. Kochanski went to Warsaw 25 years ago and married her violin teacher, Prof. Wacław Kochanski, who became vice rector of the Warsaw Conservatory of Music, and died just before Poland fell in September of 1939.

CALL RECEIVED FOR 14 COUNTY MEN MARCH 27

An official call for 14 men on March 27 was received Thursday by Selective Service officials from Carl G. Wahl, state mobilization officer. The call will raise Pickaway County's March quota to 44 men.

The county's first March quota of ten men will leave Circleville by bus for Fort Hayes, Columbus, Friday, drawing the first six men from the draft list. All previous quotas have been filled by volunteers.

Draft officials Thursday mailed out 100 more questionnaires, boosting the total number now having been sent to registrants to 1,530.

REICH SOLDIERS MENACE WAVELL ARMY IN AFRICA

ROME, March 6—British troops in Libya are "latently threatened" with encirclement by German forces, Giovanni Ansaldo, well-known Italian editor, reported in the newspaper Il Telegrafo today.

"Serious damage to his tanks in a battle south of Benghazi has forced British Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell to discontinue his advance for more than 10 days.

"Faced by equally powerful German tanks, Wavell's army now already is latently threatened with encirclement."

Consulates At Newark And Detroit Closed By State Department Order

WASHINGTON, March 6—The United States government today ordered the movements of all Italian diplomatic representatives in this country restricted and directed that the Italian consulates in Newark, N. J., and Detroit, Mich., be closed.

Announcement of the decision was made by Secretary of State Hull.

The action, which represents one of the most drastic diplomatic measures ever taken by this government toward a country with which the United States is at peace, was in retaliation for the Italian government's recent closing of the American consulate at Naples and Palermo and the imposition of restrictions of the movements of American Ambassador William Phillips and members of the American embassy in Rome.

In announcing this action, the State Department made public this statement:

"For reasons of national policy it has been decided that foreign consulates in certain areas should be closed.

"At the present time the Italian government has been requested to close the consulates at Detroit, Mich., and Newark, N. J., and to withdraw the personnel."

The Italian consul at Detroit is Giacomo Profili, who has been assigned there since 1938.

Renato Dela Chiesa D'Isasca has been Italian consul in Newark since 1937.

75 OF CINCINNATI SCHOOLS CLOSED BY LABOR RIFT

CINCINNATI, March 6—Nearly 60,000 Cincinnati school children were "vacationing" today as only 12 of the city's 87 public schools were in session because of a building engineer's strike.

The Cincinnati Union of Operating Engineers, Local No. 20, called the strike today after voting to demand pay increases. Only schools which were heated by automatic means or have firemen only were able to open this morning.

Parochial schools were not affected by the strike. The discrepancy between wages paid school engineers and those in private industry was said by Union officials to be the main reason for the strike.

School officials estimated the shutdown would cost the city $27,000 daily in teachers' salaries alone.

When teachers reported at classrooms this morning, blackboards bore a message reading: "When temperature drops to 68, bell will be rung for dismissal."

THREE PERSONS PERISH; ESCAPING GAS BLAMED

NEW YORK, March 6—Three persons perished and three others were found unconscious today in an apartment building in the Bronx. Police sought to determine whether some type of gas, possibly escaping coal gas, was responsible.

The three dead were reported to be members of a family named Geller who lived on the second floor of the building. The victims were said to be the mother, a son and a daughter, the latter two in their teens.

George Says F. D.'s Aides Can Beat Proposals

WASHINGTON, March 6—Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were summoned into session today to consider possibility of effecting a compromise on proposed amendments to the lease-lend bill banning both the sending of men into the European war and conveying of ships by the U. S. Navy.

Sen. George (D) Ga., chairman of the committee, announced that he would favor a compromise if a practical amendment can be devised, as the senate prepared to plunge anew into debate on the Ellender amendment. Sponsored by Sen. Ellender (D) La., this amendment declares that no authority is given in the bill to send men into a foreign war.

"We will consider the various amendments," George said. "I do not know that a satisfactory amendment can be devised, but if one can and we can save a day's debate I would favor it."

Declaring that the bill does not carry any authority to send men or convey ships, however, George

WASHINGTON, March 6—A poll of the senate disclosed today that the administration has 57 votes, a definite majority, committed for passage of the lease-lend bill.

The administration's strength was substantially increased in the last few days with the following committing themselves for the bill: Democrats, Her- ring, Ia.; Kilgore, W. Va.; Wallgren, Wash.; Downey, Calif.; Hatch, N. Mex.; and Republican Brewster, Me.

Words Sugar-Coated
Ellender voiced a willingness to compromise, but declared that he would not accept "just some sugar-coated words."

"There is a chance to pass my amendment," he said. "If we had voted yesterday it would have carried. It is a declaration of congress against participating in these foreign wars unless we are attacked."

George, however, said "we have the votes to beat the Ellender amendment."

As amendments were considered, a poll showed a Democratic majority of 57 votes for final enactment of the measure. Majority Leader Barkley voiced satisfaction over progress and again expressed hope that the bill can be passed by Saturday night, but leading foes said that there is no chance of a final vote before next week.

NAZIS MAY LAND TROOPS, BUT CAN'T KEEP THEM ON ISLE, BRITISH CLAIMS

LONDON, March 6—Germany can land troops in England, it was proved by actual test in a gigantic sham battle—but they cannot maintain their footing there.

War Minister Capt. David Margesson revealed results of the sham battle for the first time in the House of Commons today, declaring that the sham fight lasted a week, and was on a scale "far heavier than anything the Germans actually are likely to make."

The "enemy" said the war minister, "made landings by sea and air," but all the home forces came through "with the greatest credit."

HITLER and Mussolini appear together on the 50-centesimi Italian postage stamp. A German and an Italian soldier are symbolically backing up Der Fuehrer and Il Duce. Borglum, Noted Sculptor, Victim Of Heart Attack

CHICAGO, March 6—Gutzon Borglum, the noted sculptor who fashioned the great Mt. Rushmore Memorial in the Black Hills, died today in Henrotin Hospital after a heart attack suffered last Sunday.

The great sculptor would have been 74 years old had he lived until March 25.

Borglum died at 7 o'clock this morning. He was recuperating from a recent operation when he suffered a severe setback last Sunday. Two days later, however, physicians announced that he seemed to be recovering. His condition while regarded as serious, had not caused undue anxiety until early this morning.

Mrs. Borglum, who suffered a broken arm in a fall recently, has been at her husband's bedside almost constantly since Sunday. A son, Lincoln, also was with his father here.

Borglum's greatest work was the huge Mt. Rushmore Memorial in which he carved the likenesses of Abraham Lincoln, George Washington, Thomas Jefferson and Theodore Roosevelt on the facade of a towering mountain in the Black Hills of South Dakota. The great project had not been completed when death overtook Borglum, however.

Borglum's creations won him world-wide fame. In addition to the huge Mt. Rushmore edifice, his more notable works were the equestrian statues of Gen. Philip Sheridan in Washington, D. C., and in Chicago; the marble head of Abraham Lincoln which graces the rotunda of the Capitol Building in Washington; Wars of America, a huge work consisting of 42 figures in bronze, which is in Military Park, Newark, N. J., and the North Carolina memorial on the battlefield at Gettysburg, Pa.

Abroad, Borglum fashioned the memorial to Woodrow Wilson at Posnan, Poland, and the Thomas Paine Memorial in Paris, among others.

The sculptor was born in Idaho, and was christened John Gutzon De La Bothe Borglum. Borglum received his early education in the public schools of Fremont and Omaha, Neb. Later he studied art in San Francisco and then attended the Julian Academy and the Ecole Des Beaux Arts in Paris.

Princeton University honored him with an M. A. degree, and he received other honorary degrees from Oglethorpe and Dakota Wesleyan Universities.

OHIO BANKER, NATIVE OF CHILLICOTHE, DIES AT 68

MARIETTA, March 6—William S. Eberle, prominent in Ohio banking circles for many years, died today at the age of 69.

Born at Chillicothe, October 6, 1872, Eberle graduated from the Ohio Medical College at Columbus but entered the banking business. At his death, he was cashier and director of the Marietta New First National Bank, and a member of the board of directors of the Ohio Bankers' Association agricultural committee.

He is survived by two brothers, Dr. Edgar H. Eberle, Cincinnati dentist, and J. W. Eberle, of Dayton, a sister, Mrs. E. A. Bickler, of Cincinnati, and his step-mother, Mrs. Anna S. Eberle, of Chillicothe.

CAGE TOURNAMENT NETS $532.22; EXPENSES DOWN

County basketball tournament officials announced Thursday that net profit for the event, held at the Perry Township high school gym, was $532.22, about $75 more than last year.

Total receipts amounted to $1,055.15, with 249 season tickets sold, and expenses were listed at $522.93. Although total receipts for the contest this year were slightly less than last year, cuts in this year's expenses increased the profit, officials said.

OFFENSIVE ON AXIS PLANNED BY UNCLE SAM

So Says Mr. Gayda, Duce's Spokesman; Great Britain To Be Annexed?

ROME, March 6—A sensational charge that President Roosevelt plans an offensive against the axis powers and that the United States is preparing to "inherit the British Empire" and extend its domination over other nations was broached today by Virginio Gayda, press spokesman for Premier Mussolini.

"The free peoples of Europe and Asia," Gayda wrote, "are increasingly concerned over Roosevelt's real offensive plan against the axis, the most unbridled, plutocratic, imperialistic plan the world has ever known."

"The silent conflict which already has opened between Roosevelt's United States and the axis parallels the conflict between the axis and England."

"Increasingly ambitious United States imperialism is preparing not only to inherit the British Empire but extend its domination over other nations."

NINE OF FOE'S SHIPS WRECKED, BRITISH CLAIM

LONDON, March 6—British warships sank nine German merchant vessels and another Norwegian merchant vessel under German control in their spectacular raid on the Lofoten Islands of Norway on Tuesday, it was announced in London today.

In addition, the British admiral stated, a German armed trawler was sent to the bottom. The 11 ships sunk totalled 18,000 tons.

(Editor's Note: The German version of the British raid claimed it was merely a "propaganda stunt without military value." An official German communique claimed that light British naval forces had landed troops on the northern Norwegian islands after "shelling some fishing boats."

"The British took some German soldiers and Norwegian fishermen prisoners . . . and hastily made off," the Berlin announcement added.)

Today's British communique said 215 German soldiers and 10 Norwegian "Quislings" were captured.

The British forces also brought back to England a number of Norwegian "patriots" who were described as "anxious to fight for the cause of freedom."

The admiral said the "opportunity was taken to supply the local population with foodstuffs, soap, cigarettes, clothing and other comforts of which the Nor-

Events in the Balkans roared toward an explosive climax today with reports Russia is massing huge troop reinforcements in Black Sea regions facing Romania.

Details of the reported Soviet troop movements were lacking but they served to arouse new apprehension in Romania, whose German-controlled oil fields already are slated as a possible target for British bombers.

German troops were still reported concentrating in Bulgaria, and their number was estimated at 600,000 or more.

(A Reuters (British) dispatch from Istanbul said German infantrymen were stationed less than 15 miles from Svilengrad, a small Bulgarian town on the Turkish border.)

"Solid miles" of German mechanized troops and war supplies swept southward through Bulgaria while authoritative quarters predicted a German "peace or perish" ultimatum to Greece within nine or ten days.

Not Neighbors

Turkey's rejection of the Nazi non-aggression offer, reports from Ankara said, was based ostensibly on the contention that such a pact was not necessary, Turkey pointed out that she and Germany are not neighbors.

Simultaneously Greece turned down all overtures for peace with Italy and made it clear she plans to stand by Britain, even if invaded by the German military legions now lining the Greco-Bulgarian frontier.

And Turkey, according to reports in Budapest, also was reported to have spurned a German offer of a non-aggression pact.

In the United States Democratic members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee were summoned into session to consider possibilities of a compromise on proposed lease-lend bill amendments banning the dispatch of American soldiers to the European war and conveying of ships by the United States Navy.

Mrs. Kochanski went to Warsaw 25 years ago and married her violin teacher, Prof. Wladaw Kochanski, who became vice rector of the Warsaw Conservatory of Music, and died just before Poland fell in September of 1939.

Mrs. Kochanski said she was seized by Russian soldiers at Kowel, Poland, where she was resting at the home of a friend.

Unable to prove her American citizenship, she was sent to Siberia in a box car with 30 other refugees, and forced to work in the fields although the temperature sometimes dropped to as low as 56 degrees below zero.

"We lived in a log hut," she said, "and seldom had enough clothing or bedding. Our food was mainly bread and barley flour. There were about 650 refugees in our camp, some of them Poles of high rank, including architects, doctors, engineers, with their wives and children."

Mrs. Kochanski came back to America convinced the European dictatorships cannot endure. "The people will rise up when the time comes," she said. "There is fine leadership among these people, and when the signal is given, they will fight."

Mrs. Kochanski expressed belief that "in all Russia there are fewer than 2,000,000 Communists." The people hate their rulers, she said, and some day will assert themselves. She finally won her freedom through intercession of the American consul in Moscow, after American relatives had brought her plight to the attention of the State Department.

COURT DOCKETS BULGING; MANY CASES PENDING

Thirteen Persons Named
By December Jury Have Not Yet Been Tried

MORE CHARGES PILE UP

Last Criminal Case Heard
In Pickaway County Was
In September, 1939

Bulging court dockets will meet both the petit and grand jurors when they are called into session, records at the clerk of courts office revealed Thursday. No date has been set for convening of either body.

Common Pleas Judge Meeker Terwilliger has reported he is anxious to dispose of the pending cases as soon as possible, since with the advance of spring weather, both petit and grand jurors may be busy with spring work. No criminal trial has been held in the local court since September 26, 1939.

Thirteen indictments are pending from the December term grand jury and await court trial. Outstanding among them is the manslaughter case against Andrew Mack Wright, Dayton motorist, charged with being responsible for the deaths of Miss Catherine Stapleton and Millard Campbell, both of Circleville, in a head-on auto collision on Route 56 east of the city. Charges were filed against Wright by the parents of both Campbell and Miss Stapleton.

Another case to be heard before petit jurors is that of John T. White, Clarksburg, West Virginia, who allegedly passed a $3,200 bad check on the Pickaway County Farm Bureau December 7, 1935, in payment for 156 hogs. White recently was returned to Pickaway County from Lincoln, Neb., where he finished a sentence on similar charges. He is in county jail pending action of the jury.

25 Await Action

Twenty-five persons await grand jury action, seven of them are in the county jail for failure to provide necessary bond for their release. Those in jail are Columbus Wheeler, Vinton, bad check charge; Clifford Ray Hamilton, Circleville Route 3, statutory charge; Clayton Taylor and Kenneth Brunson, both of Columbus, breaking and entering charges; Chester McCain, East

Town Street, auto theft; Ruben Mathews, Greenup, Ky., forgery. One manslaughter case resulting from an accident which brought Pickaway County its first traffic fatality of 1941 will be considered by grand jurors. Charged with second degree manslaughter is Willard C. Thalgott, 24, Columbus youth, who crashed his car over a 15-foot embankment on the CCC highway near Harrisburg, New Year's eve, bringing injuries which resulted in the death of his companion, Miss Leota Snyder, 25, Columbus nurse. The affidavit against Thalgott was filed by State Highway Patrolman E. P. Wells in Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges court. Thalgott was released under bond.

Slot Cases Pending

Most recent case to come before the grand jury is that charging Mayor William Cady, Service Director Leonard Morgan and Earl Radcliff, trustees of the Eagles Lodge, with exhibiting gaming devices in their club rooms on East Main Street. The charges were filed against the trio by Bernard G. Nebel, Columbus pin table promoter. All three were taken before Justice Hedges, each pleaded not guilty to the charges and each was bound to the grand jury under $300 bond.

"KITTY FOYLE"

Cecil B. DeMille turned out to be a good forecaster in connection with the top awards by the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences. James Stewart, who won the award as the best actor, was in the Radio Theatre a short time before the award was made. "Rebecca," voted the best motion picture of the year, was on the show three weeks before the Academy's dinner, and before Ginger Rogers was given the award for the best performance by an actress she had been signed to do "Kitty Foyle" on DeMille's show. Ginger will star in "Kitty Foyle" on the show within the next few weeks.

BUCK GUESTARS

Frank Buck, the man who "brings 'em back alive," will take time out from his zoological activities to hunt the right answers to Walter Compton's "Double or Nothing" queries when he appears as guest contestant Sunday, at 6 p. m. Buck will stalk those elusive eagles on the backs of the silver dollars that Compton awards to each contestant for supplying the correct answers.

Frank Forest, star tenor on the quiz-variety show has scheduled the familiar "Still Is the Night," by Carl Bohm, as his featured selection. The orchestra is under the direction of Nat Brusloff.

LESPEDEZA STORY

The almost fabulous story of Lespedeza, an oriental legume named after a Spanish governor of a Central American Country, will be dramatized over WLW on Saturday, as the "Fortunes Washed Away" presentation at 1:15 p. m.

Lespedeza, a perennial legume that has transformed many an eroded field in the South to a productive pasture or meadow, was introduced into Western Kentucky largely through the efforts of John Beacham, a farmer of Union County. His continued struggle to prove the value of this soil builder, in the face of scornful rebuffs, will be the highlight of the dramatization.

RADIO BRIEFS

Short wave radio broadcasts from the U. S. to Europe are becoming more and more powerful so that today, collectively, international broadcasting stations in America are sending across the Atlantic upward of fifty hours of programs daily in more than six languages.

Ray Collins, outstanding actor on the Court of Missing Heirs, will nab one of the male leads in the Main Stem production of "Native Son" being produced by Orson Welles.

Effective March 31, "Cavalcade of America" will move into the time vacated by Burns and Allen. Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake will both snare thirteen week renewal contracts on the Blondie program.

The 1940 Census showed 169,742 restaurants, cafes and other eating places in the U. S.

MOVIE SUPPORT BEING URGED BY CITY EXECUTIVE

Editor's Note: Mayor W. B. Cady, Thursday, issued the following proclamation, urging public support of the movie "Land of Liberty" to be shown March 12 and 13 at the Cliftona Theatre.

WHEREAS, the City of Circleville, being recognized as a truly American city, has been selected to hold a public theatre presentation of the motion picture "LAND OF LIBERTY"; and

WHEREAS, the Cliftona Theatre has been selected for this engagement, to take place on Wednesday and Thursday, March 12-13 and

WHEREAS, all net profits accruing from the public showings of this production are to be devoted to welfare work among soldiers and sailors; and

WHEREAS, "LAND OF LIBERTY" is a stirring and dramatic film, put together by 51 Hollywood producers and featuring 139 famous stars, which tells the story of our country's heroic progress during the last 150 years;

THEREFORE, as Mayor of the City of Circleville, I do hereby

HEAD OF STATE HOSPITAL ORDERED TO JOIN ARMY

COLUMBUS, March 6—Dr. E. A. Baber, superintendent of the Longview State Hospital at Cincinnati, who received orders to report for a year's active military service with the federal army, will not be replaced immediately, State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today.

Dr. Baber, who is a lieutenant-colonel in the medical reserve, has headed the institution since 1932. He was ordered to report to Ft. Jackson, S. C., after a physical examination at Ft. Thomas, Ky. Sherwood said that he had received no official notification of the army call. He revealed that he had asked army officials to defer Dr. Baber's induction until the budgetary problems of the hospital for the 1941-42 biennium were ironed out.

Generally speaking, fish swim up stream as they are then heading against the current and it is easier to get food.

ELDON HILL, NOW SERGEANT, PENS SHELBY'S NEWS

Youth Reports Everything Going Along Smoothly In Mississippi

SELECTEES POURING IN

Little Talk Of War Being Heard! Four Volunteers Military Police

EDITOR'S NOTE: Eldon (Tink) Hill, former soda jerk at the Hamilton and Ryan Drug Store, writes the following interesting letter from Camp Shelby, Mississippi, where he has been a member of the 136th Field Artillery of the National Guard since last October. Hill has recently been promoted to a rank of sergeant, the promotion becoming effective March 1.

Just a line from Shelby. Everything in full swing in the 37th Division now that most of the Selectees are in. Every Regiment up to full war-time strength, which is about double their old National Guard power. Between 35,000 and 40,000 men in training now, with about 15,000 more to come. Things are getting so crowded now that several of the Infantry companies are double-decking their beds so they can get eight men in a tent.

All of the boys who left Circleville in October in good health and getting along fine. There were 43 of us when we mobilized, but now we have all been split up and scattered all over the camp. Several of the boys have been promoted and some have been demoted.

92 In Battery

There are 92 men in the battery I am in now. About 60 are Selectees from Cleveland and Portsmouth and about seven of us from Circleville. The rest of the men are from all over Ohio.

Haven't seen any of the Pickaway County Selectees since the day they arrived. Was over to the Induction Center the Saturday they came in and surely was surprised at some of them being here.

Bill Friece and Fred Smith just walked in while I'm writing. They, with Ned Plum and Bill Kellstadt, are in the M. P.'s and from the way they talk they don't like being Military Police. Can't say that I blame them much either, because down here the M. P.'s are considered just about the lowest type of soldier there is. Can't understand why such a good bunch of boys should be in such an outfit. They'll probably be able to transfer later, I hope.

Two anti-tank batteries have been added to the 136th Field Artillery. They are 75MM guns and are the latest type made. They're supposed to be very effective on point blank firing up to a mile. I imagine they are similar to what the French used on the Germans last summer to slow up their tanks and armored cars.

Little War Talk

Not much talk of war here in camp. Very few people here interested in the lease-lend bill or anything else that the politicians argue about. I've even quit being a good Republican, but don't tell Bill Radcliff.

The draft is really starting to show its power now. Rich boys with influential parents and boys without influential parents all look alike in the Army brown. Tell the boys in Circleville, that they'll be a lot better off if they get in now. I have four Selectees in my tent. One is a graduate from Ohio State, another from Western Reserve and the others have had some college work. All four were drafted in Cleveland and all are eager to learn the army routine and way of doing things.

Have been playing golf almost every week for the last month. Most of the courses down here have sand greens and a lot of pine trees on them.

The town of Hattiesburg is really booming. New houses and stores going up everywhere. Rooms rent for as high as $40 a month and they are very scarce at that.

The weather has been all right. It gets real chilly at night, but it's hot in the daytime. From what I read in the papers its really winter time in the North. Flowers are out down here and next week end I think I'll go fishing.

I really enjoy reading the old home town paper and to me its still the newsiest of them all. Have learned to read the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Don't know of anything else to write of interest, so will stop. My address has been changed and here's the new one:

State-Supported Schools To Receive Larger Funds

COLUMBUS, March 6—With Governor Bricker's declaration that "our state-supported universities have been neglected for a period of ten years in their requests and needs for new buildings," heads of Ohio's six state universities today looked forward to increased activity during the next two years.

The governor's biennial budget, presented to the legislature last night, proposes increases in the budgets of five of the state schools and provides for a separate building and betterment program totaling $7,485,481. An increase for personal service and maintenance for state-supported institutions in the amount of $700,000 was recommended by the governor "because of increased enrollment."

Two good mixers are better than one

THERE you sit, watching the long road ahead as it dips and rises.

Under your feet there's a quiet whispering, to let you know that all eight able Buick cylinders are happily on the job.

You're giving not a single thought to what's happening under that long bonnet nosing out in front, but here's what's going on:

Instead of the single, compromise-size carburetor you find on most cars, this Buick FIREBALL eight with Compound Carburetion* has two good mixers on the job.

A single one of them—the front one—keeps you rolling smoothly, easily, quietly, on the very minimum rationing of gasoline.

But the other carburetor is alert and ready for any sudden need. Just tramp down on that accelerator pedal—it goes into instant action, giving you more fuel and more power for any emergency purpose!

It's almost like having two engines—one to handle normal requirements thriftily, another to team up with the first for extra oomph and wallop when you want it.

That kind of teamwork pays.

And owners by the thousand will tell you it's more economical too—as much as 10% to 15% more economical.

If you haven't experienced what it feels like to have that under the bonnet of your automobile, better go have that Buick demonstration now.

Little Talk Of War Being Heard! Four Volunteers Military Police

EDITOR'S NOTE: Eldon (Tink) Hill, former soda jerk at the Hamilton and Ryan Drug Store, writes the following interesting letter from Camp Shelby, Mississippi, where he has been a member of the 136th Field Artillery of the National Guard since last October. Hill has recently been promoted to a rank of sergeant, the promotion becoming effective March 1.

Just a line from Shelby. Everything in full swing in the 37th Division now that most of the Selectees are in. Every Regiment up to full war-time strength, which is about double their old National Guard power. Between 35,000 and 40,000 men in training now, with about 15,000 more to come. Things are getting so crowded now that several of the Infantry companies are double-decking their beds so they can get eight men in a tent.

All of the boys who left Circleville in October in good health and getting along fine. There were 43 of us when we mobilized, but now we have all been split up and scattered all over the camp. Several of the boys have been promoted and some have been demoted.

92 In Battery

There are 92 men in the battery I am in now. About 60 are Selectees from Cleveland and Portsmouth and about seven of us from Circleville. The rest of the men are from all over Ohio.

Haven't seen any of the Pickaway County Selectees since the day they arrived. Was over to the Induction Center the Saturday they came in and surely was surprised at some of them being here.

Bill Friece and Fred Smith just walked in while I'm writing. They, with Ned Plum and Bill Kellstadt, are in the M. P.'s and from the way they talk they don't like being Military Police. Can't say that I blame them much either, because down here the M. P.'s are considered just about the lowest type of soldier there is. Can't understand why such a good bunch of boys should be in such an outfit. They'll probably be able to transfer later, I hope.

Two anti-tank batteries have been added to the 136th Field Artillery. They are 75MM guns and are the latest type made. They're supposed to be very effective on point blank firing up to a mile. I imagine they are similar to what the French used on the Germans last summer to slow up their tanks and armored cars.

Little War Talk

Not much talk of war here in camp. Very few people here interested in the lease-lend bill or anything else that the politicians argue about. I've even quit being a good Republican, but don't tell Bill Radcliff.

The draft is really starting to show its power now. Rich boys with influential parents and boys without influential parents all look alike in the Army brown. Tell the boys in Circleville, that they'll be a lot better off if they get in now. I have four Selectees in my tent. One is a graduate from Ohio State, another from Western Reserve and the others have had some college work. All four were drafted in Cleveland and all are eager to learn the army routine and way of doing things.

Have been playing golf almost every week for the last month. Most of the courses down here have sand greens and a lot of pine trees on them.

The town of Hattiesburg is really booming. New houses and stores going up everywhere. Rooms rent for as high as $40 a month and they are very scarce at that.

The weather has been all right. It gets real chilly at night, but its hot in the daytime. From what I read in the papers its really winter time in the North. Flowers are out down here and next week end I think I'll go fishing.

I really enjoy reading the old home town paper and to me its still the newiest of them all. Have learned to read the New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Don't know of anything else to write of interest, so will stop. My address has been changed and here's the new one:

State-Supported Schools To Receive Larger Funds

COLUMBUS, March 6—With Governor Bricker's declaration that "our state-supported universities have been neglected for a period of ten years in their requests and needs for new buildings," heads of Ohio's six state universities today looked forward to increased activity during the next two years.

The governor's biennial budget, presented to the legislature last night, proposes increases in the budgets of five of the state schools and provides for a separate building and betterment program totaling $7,485,481. An increase for personal service and maintenance for state-supported institutions in the amount of $700,000 was recommended by the governor "because of increased enrollment."

Washington Merry-Go Round

(Continued from Page Six) clerk in the New York law firm of Wright, Gordon, Zachry and Parlin, yet he has already performed yeoman service for one of the partners.

Partner Charles C. Parlin returned from Europe on the same clipper with Harry Hopkins. At Trinidad the British made the usual inspection of baggage. In Parlin's bags they found a moving picture film taken in Germany.

Parlin had visited Berlin, had accepted the Nazi invitation to take shots of Berlin areas which the British claimed to have suffered heavily from bombing. The pictures showed hardly a scar.

So the British seized the film and, for good measure, seized all Parlin's belongings as well. That evening, Harry Hopkins dined with the Governor of Trinidad. During dinner the Governor was called to the telephone and told what had been found in the Parlin baggage. Returning to the dinner table, the Governor asked Hopkins if he knew this man Parlin.

"Yes," said Hopkins, "he is a lawyer of high standing in New York, and the employer of Franklin Roosevelt, Junior."

Next morning, when Parlin appeared at the air station, expecting to find his luggage confiscated, he learned instead that everything was being returned to him with apologies and best wishes for a safe journey.

AMERICA FIRST BROADCASTS

In its hectic, last-minute efforts to block passage of the lend-lease bill, the America First Committee crashed head-on into the same obstacle that dined the radio voice of Father Coughlin—the National Association of Broadcasters Code.

There was no publicity about it, but big radio stations have quietly been refusing to broadcast recordings of speeches by isolationist leaders, which the Committee has been sending out, on the ground that their use conflicts with the code.

Such recordings, under the code, have been interpreted as "controversial," which means (1) that they must be given free time on the air, and (2) that an equal amount of time must be accorded to Lend-Lease proponents by stations airing the anti speeches.

Big radio stations now broadcast so much "deadhead" national defense material—Army and Navy recruiting drives, special Army camp programs, speeches by defense officials, and so on—that they can't afford much additional free time for long-winded debates on aid to Britain.

Result is that the America First Committee in its home-stretch drive has had to depend largely on the smaller stations, unaffiliated with the NAB.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

On the President's desk are the tools of his work. On the couch at the right are the tools of Falala, the President's Scotch. They consist of a rubber bone, ball and doughnut, and a mesh-work bag that he can get his teeth into. Vice President Henry Wallace has engaged a Spanish-speaking secretary to help him practise his Spanish. Wallace wanted someone who would be available at any moment—in the office, in the restaurant, in the handball court. So he turned down a handsome feminine applicant from the Mexican Embassy, took a man instead.

Able young Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana, who nominated Wendell Wilkie at Philadelphia, broke with him on the lend-lease bill, voting against it. Republican politicians in Wilkie's native state are dead against his support of Roosevelt's foreign policy, and voted to a man to kill a Democrat-inspired resolution in the Indiana State Senate praising their 1940 nominee.

FEDERALS OPEN PROBE OF CRASH FATAL TO EIGHT

ATLANTA, Ga., March 6—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, critically injured in the crash of an Eastern Airlines sleeper plane just a week ago, was reported to be "resting comfortably" today as federal officials prepared to open the government's inquiry into the accident.

Capt. Rickenbacker, noted World War ace and president of Eastern Airlines, spent a restless night, hospital attaches said. His fractured hip has been placed in a cast.

The inquiry into the crash, in which eight persons were killed and eight were injured, was under the supervision of Jerome Lederer, director of the safety division of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Lederer spent most of yesterday visiting the scene of the wreck five miles south of the Atlanta airport, and in talking with several of the survivors.

Pending the development of testimony at today's hearing, Lederer would not comment on the possible cause of the accident.

At Piedmont Hospital, where Rickenbacker is under treatment, attaches revealed that H. A. Little, New York Times executive, another of the more severely injured passengers, was continuing to show improvement.

Four United States presidents had birthdays in March — Madison, Jackson, Tyler and Cleveland.

OHIO HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO GET MONEY FOR LAND

COLUMBUS, March 6—The governor's biennial budget today recommended approximately $15,000 more for general operating expenses of the Ohio Archeological and Historical Society along with an additional appropriation of $35,000 for the purchase of new lands and construction of buildings, than provided during the last biennium.

The society will receive a total of $277,700, if the budget is approved, as compared with $262,798 during 1939-40.

The proposed budget also provides for an increase in the appropriation to the Fort Meigs Memorial Commission, at Perrysburg, from $6,975 in 1939-40 to $7,350. The proposed appropriation, however, is approximately $11,000 under the commission's request.

THREE ARRESTED, NAMED IN ATTEMPTED SWINDLE

COLUMBUS, March 6—Suspected of fleeing a Columbus man of $1,500 and attempting to swindle a Lima, O., resident out of $2,500, two men and a woman arrested at the Union train depot were held for investigation today.

They gave their names as Nate Krone, 39, Chicago; Thomas Roberts, 37, Indianapolis, and Mrs. Loretta Roberts, 25, of Indianapolis.

Detectives said they had in

clerk in the New York law firm of Wright, Gordon, Zachry and Parlin, yet he has already performed yeoman service for one of the partners.

Partner Charles C. Parlin returned from Europe on the same clipper with Harry Hopkins. At Trinidad the British made the usual inspection of baggage. In Parlin's bags they found a moving picture film taken in Germany.

Parlin had visited Berlin, had accepted the Nazi invitation to take shots of Berlin areas which the British claimed to have suffered heavily from bombing. The pictures showed hardly a scar.

So the British seized the film and, for good measure, seized all Parlin's belongings as well.

That evening, Harry Hopkins dined with the Governor of Trinidad. During dinner the Governor was called to the telephone and told what had been found in the Parlin baggage. Returning to the dinner table, the Governor asked Hopkins if he knew this man Parlin.

"Yes," said Hopkins, "he is a lawyer of high standing in New York, and the employer of Franklin Roosevelt, Junior."

Next morning, when Parlin appeared at the air station, expecting to find his luggage confiscated, he learned instead that everything was being returned to him with apologies and best wishes for a safe journey.

In its hectic, last-minute efforts to block passage of the lend-lease bill, the America First Committee crashed head-on into the same obstacle that silenced the radio voice of Father Coughlin—the National Association of Broadcasters Code.

There was no publicity about it, but big radio stations have quietly been refusing to broadcast recordings of speeches by isolationist leaders, which the Committee has been sending out, on the ground that their use conflicts with the code.

Such recordings, under the code, have been interpreted as "controversial," which means (1) that they must be given free time on the air, and (2) that an equal amount of time must be accorded to Lend-Lease proponents by stations airing the anti speeches.

Big radio stations now broadcast so much "deadhead" national defense material—Army and Navy recruiting drives, special Army camp programs, speeches by defense officials, and so on—that they can't afford much additional free time for long-winded debates on aid to Britain.

Result is that the America First Committee in its home-stretch drive has had to depend largely on the smaller stations, unaffiliated with the NAB.

JANUARY SALES OF LIQUOR DOWN LITTLE IN STATE

COLUMBUS, March 6—Liquor sales during the month of January totaled $4,011,538, a decrease of $2,195 as compared with the same month of last year, State Liquor Director Jacob E. Taylor revealed today.

Operating expenses for the first month of 1941 were placed at $284,346, an increase of $563 over January, 1940.

Net profits and gallonage tax for the month amounted to $1,099,024, a decrease of $92,673 as compared with January, 1940, Taylor said.

FEDERALS OPEN PROBE OF CRASH FATAL TO EIGHT

ATLANTA, Ga., March 6—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, critically injured in the crash of an Eastern Airlines sleeper plane just a week ago, was reported to be "resting comfortably" today as federal officials prepared to open the government's inquiry into the accident.

Capt. Rickenbacker, noted World War ace and president of Eastern Airlines, spent a restful night, hospital attaches said. His fractured hip has been placed in a cast.

The inquiry into the crash, in which eight persons were killed and eight were injured, was under the supervision of Jerome Lederer, director of the safety division of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Lederer spent most of yesterday visiting the scene of the wreck five miles south of the Atlanta airport, and in talking with several of the survivors.

Pending the development of testimony at today's hearing, Lederer would not comment on the possible cause of the accident.

At Piedmont Hospital, where Rickenbacker is under treatment, attaches revealed that H. A. Littledale, New York Times executive, another of the more severely injured passengers, was continuing to show improvement.

Four United States presidents had birthdays in March—Madison, Jackson, Tyler and Cleveland.

OHIO HISTORICAL SOCIETY TO GET MONEY FOR LAND

COLUMBUS, March 6—The governor's biennial budget today recommended approximately $15,000 more for general operating expenses of the Ohio Archeological and Historical Society along with an additional appropriation of $35,000 for the purchase of new lands and construction of buildings, than provided during the last biennium.

The society will receive a total of $277,700, if the budget is approved, as compared with $262,798 during 1939-40.

The proposed budget also provides for an increase in the appropriation to the Fort Meigs Memorial Commission, at Perrysburg, from $6,975 in 1939-40 to $7,350. The proposed appropriation, however, is approximately $11,000 under the commission's request.

THREE ARRESTED, NAMED IN ATTEMPTED SWINDLE

COLUMBUS, March 6—Suspected of fleeing a Columbus man of $1,500 and attempting to swindle a Lima, O., resident out of $2,500, two men and a woman arrested at the Union train depot were held for investigation today.

They gave their names as Nate Krone, 39, Chicago; Thomas Roberts, 37, Indianapolis, and Mrs. Loretta Roberts, 25, of Indianapolis.

Detectives said they had in their possession at the time of their arrest $1,200 in U. S. Treasury bonds, a false police badge, five false arrest warrants, a quantity of jewelry, and about $500 in cash.

BRICKER BUDGET MILLIONS ABOVE LAST BIENNIAL

Governor Cites Necessity Of More Money For Aged,
Welfare, Buildings

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT
Mason Declares Subdivisions
Of Ohio To Suffer As Budget Is Balanced

COLUMBUS, March 6 — The battling 94th General Assembly today girded for debate on a general appropriation bill based on the biggest biennial budget in Ohio's history.

The budget, submitted by Gov.
John W. Bricker in a message before a joint session of the Legislature last night, recommended total expenditures of $352,308,606 for 1941-42, an increase of $11-386,278 over the last biennial.

The governor recommended
General Revenue Fund appropriations of $284,508,104, an increase of $18,988,164; Highway Department appropriations of $58,365-460, a cut of $8,319,007; Conservation Commission appropriations of $2,082,460, an increase of $95,157, and Liquor Control Department appropriations of $7,352,573, an increase of $621,971.

Democratic minority leaders in both houses served notice of impending attack on the appropriations measure which is expected to reach the legislature today or tomorrow. The governor said last night it would be presented "immediately."

Subdivisions Hit
"The program of the Bricker administration is to balance the state budget at the expense of the local subdivisions," said Rep. Harold L. Mason (D-Wyandot), minority floorleader in the house. "It will increase taxes on farms and homes. The Democratic minority will very definitely oppose any increase of this kind."

Sen. William M. Boyd (D-Cuyahoga), leader of the minority in the upper chamber, likewise took sharp issue with numerous points in the executive's message.
Stressing his intention of maintaining economy in his second administration, the governor said that while funds for the operation of state departments generally had been kept down to the reduced levels of the last two years, major increases were necessary for old age pensions, the welfare department and the state-supported universities' building programs, the emergency fund and the industrial commission.

Increases for Aid to the Aged and burial awards totaled $13-648,123, of which $6,824,000 would be borne by the state and the remainder by the federal government, bringing the grand total for the biennium in this division to $84,700,000.

Building Planned
The governor recommended $7-485,000 for the building program, including $4,375,000 for the welfare department; $2,317,000 for state universities; and $350,000 to build dormitories and an exhibition hall for boys and girls at the Ohio State Fair.

For welfare department maintenance, an increase of $1,900,000 was set up, necessitated, the governor said, by increased commitments of patients and the increasing cost of food and clothing.

An increase for payrolls and maintenance for universities aggregating $700,000 was urged, due to increased enrollments.

To enable the emergency board to meet contingencies arising from the "present unsettled international and domestic conditions," an increase of $950,000 was proposed.

The Industrial Commission was slated to receive an increase of $330,000, an amount which, Senator Boyd declared, indicated that the governor had "practically ignored the commission's request for additional funds. It is only one-third the amount the commission requires to provide for more than 11,000 new employers who have been brought into the system, the senator said.

The governor proposed $18,500-000 for poor relief in the biennium, a cut of $5,500,000 under the last two years' expenditures.
The appropriation, matched by the local subdivisions, would bring the state's grand total direct relief bill for 1941-42 to $37,000,000.

An appropriation of $97,400,000 was recommended for the public school foundation program, in addition to a $6,000,000 payment on the existing $12,000,000 public school debt, and $600,000 for interest payments.

Ohio's most imperative need, Bricker told the legislators, is for new buildings in the Welfare Department.

Must Care For Wards
"We must first adequately house and properly care for the unfortunate wards of the state who are being daily committed to institutions. The Welfare Department and the state universities have been neglected for a period of ten years."

Referring to a "movement in some quarters" to immediately launch a tax reduction program, the governor said "this is being done on the part of special groups interested in reducing their special taxes. No one would like to see taxes reduced more than I."

"Endlessly this administration labored to put this state government on a business basis, but let me remind you that we today owe $12,000,000 on the school debt and over $15,000,000 on the relief debt, both incurred prior to two years ago.

"Also, local governments, although they have been paying rather rapidly on their obligations, still owe over $650,000,000 for improvements. Such a program of tax reduction in any field could not be accomplished without an unwarranted and unsafe optimism in estimating revenues. Such a program would endanger the institutions of state and local governments.

THREE COLUMBUS GIRLS ON WAY TO EAST FOUND

COLUMBUS, March 6—Three young Columbus girls, who assert-

PETITIONS HIT ROSS COUNTY'S COMMISSIONERS

Two Republican Officials
Ouster Sought In Fight
Over Relief

CHILLICOTHE, March 6—Seven petitions in which the signees ask for the removal from office of two county commissioners are being circulated in Ross County.

The petitions charge Commissioners Edwin H. Martindill and Charles H. Immell with omissions in connection with administering poor relief laws in Ross County.
Additional petitions bearing sworn affidavits from persons who have allegedly been unable to impress the commissioners or the county relief department with their requests for relief assistance will be put in circulation shortly, according to W. M. Williamson, Huntington Township United Baptist minister, who assumes the responsibility of starting the movement.

Both commissioners charged are Republicans, Commissioner James F. Blain, a Democrat, not being included in the petition headings.

OHIO WESLEYAN TO BEGIN CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCE

DELAWARE, March 6—Ohio Wesleyan University, which becomes 99 years old tomorrow, will begin immediately the celebration of its centennial year, scheduled to end with Commencement Exercises in June, 1942.

Back in March, 1842, the school had its modest beginning with 29 students and four instructors.
With $9,000 raised from 172 of Delaware's then 900 population,
Rev. Adam Poe, pastor of the Methodist Church, purchased an inn known as the Massion House, and classes began soon after the state granted a charter.

Now the school, one of the country's leading co-educational institutions, numbers living alumni at 20,000. The old inn, now Eliott Hall, still stands on the campus and is still used for classes.

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP'S SCHOOL PLAY IS FRIDAY

The Junior Class of the Washington Township High School will present its class play, "Calm Yourself," Friday night, March 7, at the school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The play has to do with the social ambitions of Mrs. Fred Smithie (Geneva Lovett) who invites Harold Ainsworth, a famous interior decorator (Chester Wert-man) for a week end under the impression that he is an old admirer of hers from the old home town. Hoping for a quiet time, he accepts and for a time tries to carry out the deception. Then Fred Smithie, the husband with many ailments, (Paul Brobst) decides to live up to the party by having Harold make love to the various members of the household, playing up his passion for checker games as a reward. All goes well until Harold actually falls for Barbara Hanson, an attractive grass widow, (Helen Bowman) who is one of the guests.

Complications begin and are further involved by the arrival of Lucy Smithie's (Ruth Diltz) boyfriend (David Bolender) who wishes to elope with her.

The evening's activities are helped along by Mrs. George Wonder (Doris Kraft) and her social taillight of a husband, (Emanuel Mast) who never gets a chance to say a single word as long as she is there to say it for him. He does crash through with the key-note comment on the whole proceeding, but not until Mrs. Smithie is driven to fainting hysterics.

Lucy is believed kidnapped, her boy-friend nearly thrown into jail as a notorious criminal, Harold has his face slapped, Fred shoots himself, and general confusion reigns.

Other characters in the play are the typical maid (Dorothy Schreck) and the limb of the law (Charles Shepherd).

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.
The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood.
They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.
When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatism pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

JIMMY WALKER STILL HAS WIFE; DECREE DENIED

KEY WEST, Fla., March 6—
The suit of Betty Compton Walker for a divorce from former Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York City stood dismissed today by Judge Arthur Gomez, who ruled Mrs. Walker had failed to prove the charge of "extreme cruelty"
upon which she sought the decree.

Mrs. Walker testified in the case several days ago, but the judge's ruling was not announced until late yesterday.

On the basis of testimony and evidence given him, Judge Gomez said, Mrs. Walker's grounds were at most incompatibility, and not extreme cruelty within the meanings of Florida law. Incompatibility is not grounds for divorce in Florida.

A charge of extreme cruelty,

the judge said, presupposes some wrong-doing on the part of one or the other of the spouse, while in her testimony Mrs. Walker recited no such acts of wrongdoing and, in fact, testified that she and Walker remained friends.

Mrs. Walker had based her cruelty charge on the allegation that her husband's prominence and his public activities had disrupted their home life.
Walker was not present at the hearing, but through an attorney had denied the cruelty charges.

GAMBLING LOSSES CANNOT BE TAKEN OUT OF TAXES

COLUMBUS, March 6—Gambling losses cannot be deducted in figuring income tax payments, although winnings from gaming sources must be listed. Internal Revenue Collector Harry F. Bu-sey warned today.

The only way the losses may be listed is to subtract them from gambling gains if the latter exceed the former. And that, Busy admitted, "isn't customary."

BRICKER BUDGET MILLIONS ABOVE LAST BIENNIUM

Governor Cites Necessity Of More Money For Aged, Welfare, Buildings

DEMOCRATS TO FIGHT

Mason Declares Subdivisions Of Ohio To Suffer As Budget Is Balanced

COLUMBUS, March 6 — The battling 94th General Assembly today girded for debate on a general appropriation bill based on the biggest biennial budget in Ohio's history.

The budget, submitted by Gov. John W. Bricker in a message before a joint session of the Legislature last night, recommended total expenditures of $352,308,606 for 1941-42, an increase of $11,386,278 over the last biennium.

The governor recommended General Revenue Fund appropriations of $284,508,104, an increase of $18,988,164; Highway Department appropriations of $58,365,460, a cut of $8,319,007; Conservation Commission appropriations of $2,082,469, an increase of $95,157, and Liquor Control Department appropriations of $7,352,573, an increase of $621,971.

Democratic minority leaders in both houses served notice of impending attack on the appropriations measure which is expected to reach the legislators today or tomorrow. The governor said last night it would be presented "immediately."

Subdivisions Hit

"The program of the Bricker administration is to balance the state budget at the expense of the local subdivisions," said Rep. Harold L. Mason (D-Wyandot), minority floorleader in the house. "It will increase taxes on farms and homes. The Democratic minority will very definitely oppose any increase of this kind."

Sen. William M. Boyd (D-Cuyahoga), leader of the minority in the upper chamber, likewise took sharp issue with numerous points in the executive's message.

Stressing his intention of maintaining economy in his second administration, the governor said that while funds for the operation of state departments generally had been kept down to the reduced levels of the last two years, major increases were necessary for old age pensions, the welfare department and the state-supported universities' building programs, the emergency fund and the industrial commission.

Increases for Aid to the Aged and burial awards totaled $13,648,123, of which $6,824,000 would be borne by the state and the remainder by the federal government, bringing the grand total for the biennium in this division to $84,700,000.

Building Planned

The governor recommended $7,485,000 for the building program, including $4,375,000 for the welfare department; $2,317,000 for state universities, and $350,000 to build dormitories and an exhibition hall for boys and girls at the Ohio State Fair.

For welfare department maintenance, an increase of $1,900,000 was set up, necessitated, the governor said, by increased commitments of patients and the increasing cost of food and clothing.

An increase for payrolls and maintenance for universities aggregating $700,000 was urged, due to increased enrollments.

To enable the emergency board to meet contingencies arising from the "present unsettled international and domestic conditions," an increase of $950,000 was proposed.

The Industrial Commission was slated to receive an increase of $330,000, an amount which, Senator Boyd declared, indicated that the governor had "practically ignored the commission's request for additional funds. It is only one-third the amount the commission requires to provide for more than 11,000 new employers who have been brought into the system, the senator said.

The governor proposed $18,500,000 for poor relief in the biennium, a cut of $5,500,000 under the last two years' expenditures. The appropriation, matched by the local subdivisions, would bring the state's grand total direct relief bill for 1941-42 to $37,000,000.

An appropriation of $97,400,000 was recommended for the public school foundation program, in addition to a $6,000,000 payment on the existing $12,000,000 public school debt, and $600,000 for interest payments.

Ohio's most imperative need, Bricker told the legislators, is for new buildings in the Welfare Department.

Going over big with buyers of low-priced cars

WHY ARE SO MANY former owners of low-priced cars now driving new "Torpedoes"? Simply this—Pontiac is priced so close to the lowest that the difference is scarcely noticeable. And the scores of advantages Pontiac provides more than offset its slight extra cost.

For example, Pontiac gives you the ultra-modern beauty of "Torpedo"-styled Fisher Body. Pontiac gives you the matchless comfort of the "Triple-Cushioned-Ride"; and the assurance of more trouble-free performance provided by Exclusive Lifetime Oil Cleaner.

Why not take your present car to your Pontiac dealer today? In all probability, it will cover the down payment on a new Pontiac. The balance can be spread over monthly terms to fit your convenience.

PONTIAC PRICES BEGIN AT $828 FOR THE DE LUXE "TORPEDO" SIX BUSINESS COUPE

*Delivered at Pontiac, Michigan. State tax, optional equipment, accessories—extra. Prices subject to change without notice.

CANADIAN DEFENSE

AMERICANS have not yet grasped the magnitude of Canada's war task and what it means to our own country now and hereafter.

We have assumed that, with our 3,000-mile frontier and the close economic ties between the two countries, and with a Canadian population of only 11,000,000, the defense of that country was up to us.

This will always be true to some extent. In serious danger Canada would have to count on our superior power. But at present, Canada as a self-governing unit of the British Empire is taking care of herself and making a surprising contribution to Britain.

All males in Canada over 16 years are listed for service. Canada has sent two divisions, fully equipped, totaling 40,000 men, to Britain, Iceland, Greenland, Newfoundland and the Bahamas.

The principal military effort is in aviation. Canada provides flyers for the empire and has spent $350,000,000 for a vast air training system, which operates 50 military aviation schools with 36,000 men. There will soon be 33 more such schools in operation.

There is also a big system of armament manufacture. Canada will soon be making nearly every kind of gun and shell used in this war, along with warships, motor trucks and cars, tanks and chemicals.

The Royal Canadian Navy has grown to more than 400 ships and 27,000 men. The Dominion is now spending more than $1,000,000,000 a year on this war effort, and the amount steadily rises.

ANCIENT DEMOCRACY

"AMERICAN JEWS," says a Hebrew leader, "have both the obligation and the opportunity of finding additional underpinning for their belief in and devotion to democracy by going back to Jewish religion and cultural sources, which have at their core democratic teachings."

This is an interesting reminder that the Jewish people were a pioneer democracy, one of the oldest representatives of free government in history. Their original system is usually referred to as a "hierarchy" or "hierocracy," that is, a religious or ecclesiastical government. But in its original form, especially in the age of the Prophets, it was very democratic. There might be kings, but prophets of low origin often wielded more power than they did, so that the system was flexible and free.

Modern democracy, no doubt, owes some of its spirit to that ancient source.

LONE BRITISH DIVISION

WASHINGTON — British prospects in the Balkans are anything but rosy. Confidential figures regarding the strength of the Nazi army give some idea of what the British-Greek forces are up against.

Most people don't realize it yet, but Hitler now has 600,000 men in Romania and Bulgaria, in addition to the Bulgarian army of 150,000 men. The Bulgars probably won't be used against the Greeks, but will guard the southern border against Turkey.

Against this, the British have one division—about 20,000 men—in Salonika. More are on the way, but it takes time to transport them. The Greek army has been concentrated in Albania, at the extreme western end of Greece. While more forces have been switched to Macedonia recently, it is a tough job for a little country to spread its forces so thin.

Another important factor is that Germany has been preparing for this move during three months. The German General Staff is the most thorough military organization in the world. Not once in this war—unless it be the reputed attempt on England in September—has Hitler moved until he was completely prepared.

And from the first moment Italy was set back in Greece last November, Hitler has been preparing for his present drive on Greece.

MACEDONIA MUD

If it took Hitler three months to prepare, you can get some idea of how long it will take the British to mass a real army in Salonika. Chief hope of the British is airplanes, plus bombing raids on Bulgaria, and the Romanian oil fields from Greek or Cretan bases.

Another hope, perhaps even more important for the time being is mud. Macedonia in the spring can be the muddiest place in the world. One of the authors of this column once spent days in open trucks stuck on the muddy, gumbo roads of Macedonia. This part of the Balkans is adapted only to the ox-cart, and Hitler's tanks and armored cars are likely to get hopelessly mired.

However, spring in the Balkans has come early this year—in contrast to the very severe winter last year. So the spring rains may finish early. Thus British-Greek fate depends in part on the weather.

ORATOR VANDENBERG

Genial Senator Arthur Vandenberg is one of the most effective orators in the Senate. His mind is alert, and he has a command of phrases that makes the galleries lean forward to hear him.

When he had delivered his major effort against the lease-lend bill, he retired to the cloak room, lit a cigar, and leaned back in an upholstered chair. One of his colleagues congratulated him on the speech.

With a mischievous twinkle, Vandenberg replied: "I could have delivered just as strong a speech on the other side."

Senatorial loungers looked up, and Vandenberg added: "I could recite fifty unanswerable reasons why the bill should be passed."

New Concentrated Light Ration for Soldiers

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Several wars ago during the Boer, Spanish-American War period, it was a favorite mental occupation of army officials to prepare a concentrated light ration. The idea was perfectly obvious and its successful accomplishment would have been very useful. The most cumbersome part of a fighting unit's equipment is the kitchen. Not only cumbersome, but slow; its operations time-consuming.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ing and it constantly needs replenishment. While chasing the wily Emilio Ogunoldo through the Luzon swamps, the kitchen equipment was a decided hindrance and I have heard many warriors dilate upon its painful necessity and speculate, by contrast, on the advantage of a small cube that could be carried in the soldier's side arm pouch and would keep him going nutritionally for days.

Unpopular with Soldiers
The American soldier, however, regarded the kitchen wagon, no matter how wasteful from a strategic standpoint, with undisguised affection. But his opinion on concentrated ration cubes, was couched in unfavorable terms.

The real difficulty, however, in the early days of this century, was that the nutritional knowledge of vitamins and essential proteins was so scanty that no adequate concentrated ration could be devised. Today, with more complete understanding, Prof. Robert S. Harris at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, according to the Industrial Bulletin of Arthur D. Little, has devised a more or less concentrated ration which is manufactured with all the newer knowledge of nutrition.

The basis of this mixture is cereal. Since no simple cereal known contains all the essential protein amino-acids, one kind is fortified with another. A blend of wheat, soya bean meal and oats and corn will produce it, it is said, a mixture with as good a protein content as milk or eggs.

Certain nutritional elements still, however, need to be added. Skim milk powder, a low cost by-product, constitutes further protein, as well as minerals and some vitamins. With other additions, the mixture contains a balanced diet with all the essential food products except Vitamin C. Two-thirds of an ounce of the mixture a day, together with a reliable Vitamin C source food—such as a tomato or an orange—will keep an adult in good condition.

The mixture was designed primarily to supply the underprivileged groups with a low cost food that would supply all the necessary food elements in which their diet has been found to be so often lacking. The manufacturing cost of the food has been estimated at $1.80 per person per year.

The experiments show a trend which is evident in other activities—a realization of the need of supervising and deliberately controlling the diet of the underprivileged groups.

Lenten Reducing Diet

As suggested by the Chef of The Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, Cal.

Second Day

No seasoning on anything. Either coffee or tea (no sugar or cream) with every meal.
Breakfast: Grapefruit and coffee.

Lunch: Jelly omelet or scrambled eggs with jelly; 3 saltines.
Dinner: Two thick lamb chops; stewed tomatoes, carrots or string beans; lettuce and tomato salad; ½ grapefruit, or pineapple.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Interested—"Kindly advise in your column the cause of hives. Would dieting remedy or prevent a recurrence?"

Answer—Hives are, in nearly all cases, related to something that was eaten. Exactly what that substance is differs in different cases of hives and in different people. In other words, some people are sensitive to one kind of food and break out with hives from it, and others from other kinds. The proper procedure is to find out what food causes hives and to omit that from the diet.

RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AN HOUR or so passed, during which time Bill wrote eight beginnings for the story, and liked none of them. They all landed in the waste-paper basket. It was by now full to running over.

He was on his ninth story beginning when he heard the honking of an automobile horn. He jumped up quickly and hurried to the door. Eve Allgood was driving her car up the narrow road.

Bill ran down the steps to meet her.

"Well, I made it without landing among the collards!" she laughed, when she had brought the car to a stop. "Where's Joel?"

"Gone for the day," Bill said. "Exploring the hills, and planning houses for mill workers. Say, do you teach school on Saturdays also?"

"No," said Eve. "But we're having a sort of entertainment; you know, recitations, songs, folk dances. It occurred to me that you'd enjoy that more than watching me teach. So here I am!"

"Fine!" Bill said. "You certainly did come along at the psychological moment."

"Did I? How do you mean?"

"I was desperate from sticking so close to my writing and accomplishing nothing," Bill told her. "One more day of that sort of unproductiveness, and I would have been fit for a padded cell."

"Then I'm glad I obeyed the impulse to come up," Eve said. "What's the matter, can't you make the story move along?"

"No," Bill said. "I can't even make it MOVE," Bill replied. Then, more brightly: "Maybe seeing this entertainment will give me a start! At least I'll be able to get right into the atmosphere of the story—I hope!"

"I hope so too," Eve said. "Hop in!" Then when Bill was in the car beside her, she said: "I'm sorry Joel's not at home. He would enjoy seeing the mountaineers perform also."

"Oh, I don't know about that," Bill said rather airily. "I'm afraid Joel sees most things from a strictly business angle."

"Just what sort of story is it you plan to write?" Eve asked, as they drove off.

"A combination romance and melodrama," Bill said. "Exciting happenings through the mountains, and romance through the girl whom I'll make my chief protagonist. A romance with a mountain background, so to speak."

"Getting romance out of the drawing room and putting it in a mountain cabin. Is that it?"

"Yes. . . . That's as good a way as any to express it."

"And just what is it you expect of me?"

"I thought you might introduce me to some outstanding local characters," said Bill. "You know—types. Then I thought you might also know some humorous or dramatic yarns about the people up here—things that could be woven into my book."

"I see," said Eve. "Maybe you can get some ideas today from visiting the woman I'm going to call on before we go on to the school. She's just had twins, and I'm taking her some baby clothes. She's a typical mountain woman, and her name is Larseeny."

"Her name's WHAT?"

"Where on earth did she get a name like that?"

"Off a bulletin board."

"Off a—WHICH?"

"Her mother saw a notice posted down in The Gap. So and So wanted for 'larceny,' and she thought it was such a 'purty' word she made up her mind to give it to her next baby as a name."

"You made that up!" Bill accused, laughing.

"I did not! Larseeny will tell you about it herself, if you want her to. She was the next baby born to her mother, and she got the result of her mother's pausing to read what was tacked on the bulletin board."

"Well," said Bill, "it certainly beats me! Anyway, her mother was original, to say the least. By the way, what has Larseeny named HER BABIES?"

"Flora and Fauna," said Eve, without batting an eye.

"Ye gods!" said Bill. Then, getting a sudden idea, he said:

"Darned if I don't believe I'll name my heroine Fauna! I might even have her become the mother of twins. That certainly would be a new touch to my work, since none of my heroines heretofore have gone in for that sort of thing."

Eve gave him a quick look.

"But, please remember, Bill," she said, "you are not to patronize the people up here in the hills. They won't like it. And they are very quick to see when anyone is treating them as though they were—well, freaks or curiosities."

"Good Lord, Eve," said Bill. "I would never do a thing like that! A writer has to like people—understand them—in order to get anywhere."

"Yes, I know. But the people you have known and liked and understood and put into your books are all so different from those up here.

You may not know it, but some of the people in the mountains have splendid blood in their veins. They could trace their origins straight back to the finest families in Great Britain. Even now you hear bits of pure Elizabethan English spoken. One doesn't patronize people like that."

"Certainly not," said Bill. "And what you've told me gives me another idea."

"For the story, you mean?"

"Yes. I'll have Fauna, my protagonist, a girl who is something of a throwback. She has discovered the sort of blood that flows through her veins, and feels a tremendous urge of family pride. She decides to be something in the world, and struggles to bring her family up to her high standards. This, of course, results in drama, misunderstandings—and maybe a feud. What do you think of the idea?"

"I like it," said Eve. "But you must try to understand and be sympathetic with the people you meet, Bill. It's the only way you'll ever be able to write about them honestly. Do you know, sometimes I think Joel would understand the mountaineers better than you, even if he isn't a writer?"

"Why so?"

"Because he works with people."

Eve answered. "Doesn't just put them between the pages of books. I mean, coming into contact with hundreds of mill workers as he does, Joel is probably more sympathetic toward them and their many problems than you are."

"I see what you mean," Bill said thoughtfully. "However, I shan't do anything to offend the people I meet. I promise."

"Thank you," said Eve simply.

"They drove along in silence for a time."

Then as they were passing a stretch of land that was cool with dampness, and lush with ferns, Eve stopped the car.

"Let's gather some of those ferns," she said. "They'll look nice as decorations for the schoolhouse."

"And what ferns?" Bill commented. "Why, some of them are as high as my waist."

He jumped out of the car and opened the door for Eve.

Eve stepped down and winced as her ankle twisted a bit.

She caught hold of Bill to steady herself—and then it happened.

She was in Bill's arms. He was kissing her. It was all unbelievably sudden and unexpected. And yet Eve made no move to free herself. She not only let Bill kiss her, but she kissed him back.

One of the authors of this column once spent days in open trucks stuck on the muddy, gumbo roads of Macedonia. This part of the Balkans is adapted only to the ox-cart, and Hitler's tanks and armored cars are likely to get hopelessly mired.

However, spring in the Balkans has come early this year—in contrast to the very severe winter last year. So the spring rains may finish early. Thus British-Greek fate depends in part on the weather.

ORATOR VANDENBERG

Genial Senator Arthur Vandenberg is one of the most effective orators in the Senate. His mind is alert, and he has a command of phrases that makes the galleries lean forward to hear him.

When he had delivered his major effort against the lease-lend bill, he retired to the cloak room, lit a cigar, and leaned back in an upholstered chair. One of his colleagues congratulated him on the speech.

With a mischievous twinkle, Vandenberg replied: "I could have delivered just as strong a speech on the other side."

Senatorial loungers looked up, and Vandenberg added: "I could recite fifty unanswerable reasons why the bill should be passed."

New Concentrated Light Ration for Soldiers

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Several wars ago during the Boer, Spanish-American War period, it was a favorite mental occupation of army officials to prepare a concentrated light ration. The idea was perfectly obvious and its successful accomplishment would have been very useful. The most cumbersome part of a fighting unit's equipment is the kitchen. Not only cumbersome, but slow; its operations time-consuming.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

ing and it constantly needs replenishment. While chasing the wily Emilio Aguinaldo through the Luzon swamps, the kitchen equipment was a decided hindrance and I have heard many warriors dilate upon its painful necessity and speculate, by contrast, on the advantage of a small cube that could be carried in the soldier's side arm pouch and would keep him going nutritionally for days.

Unpopular with Soldiers

The American soldier, however, regarded the kitchen wagon, no matter how wasteful from a strategic standpoint, with undisguised affection. But his opinion on concentrated ration cubes, was couched in unfavorable terms.

The real difficulty, however, in the early days of this century, was that the nutritional knowledge of vitamins and essential proteins was so scanty that no adequate concentrated ration could be devised. Today, with more complete understanding, Prof. Robert S. Harris at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, according to the Industrial Bulletin of Arthur D. Little, has devised a more or less concentrated ration which is manufactured with all the newer knowledge of nutrition.

The basis of this mixture is cereal. Since no simple cereal known contains all the essential protein amino-acids, one kind is fortified with another. A blend of wheat, soybean meal and oats and corn will produce, it is said, a mixture with as good a protein content as milk or eggs.

Certain nutritional elements still, however, need to be added. Skim milk powder, a low cost by-product, constitutes further protein, as well as minerals and some vitamins. With other additions, the mixture contains a balanced diet with all the essential food products except Vitamin C. Two-thirds of an ounce of the mixture a day, together with a reliable Vitamin C source food—such as a tomato or an orange—will keep an adult in good condition.

The mixture was designed primarily to supply the underprivileged groups with a low cost food that would supply all the necessary food elements in which their diet has been found to be so often lacking. The manufacturing cost of the food has been estimated at $1.80 per person per year.

The experiments show a trend which is evident in other activities—a realization of the need of supervising and deliberately controlling the diet of the underprivileged groups.

Lenten Reducing Diet

As suggested by the Chef of The Hotel Huntington, Pasadena, Cal.

Second Day

No seasoning on anything. Either coffee or tea (no sugar or cream) with every meal. Breakfast: Grapefruit and coffee.

Lunch: Jelly omelet or scrambled eggs with jelly; 3 saltines. Dinner: Two thick lamb chops; stewed tomatoes, carrots or string beans; lettuce and tomato salad; ½ grapefruit, or pineapple.

Interested: "Kindly advise in your column the cause of hives. Would dieting remedy or prevent a recurrence?"

Answer:—Hives are, in nearly all cases, related to something that was eaten. Exactly what that substance is differs in different cases of hives and in different people. In other words, some people are sensitive to one kind of food and break out with hives from it, and others from other kinds. The proper procedure is to find out what food causes hives and to omit that from the diet.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

AN HOUR or so passed, during which time Bill wrote eight beginnings for the story, and liked none of them. They all landed in the waste-paper basket. It was by now full to running over.

He was on his ninth story beginning when he heard the honking of an automobile horn. He jumped up quickly and hurried to the door. Eve Allgood was driving her car up the narrow road.

Bill ran down the steps to meet her.

"Well, I made it without landing among the collards!" she laughed, when she had brought the car to a stop. "Where's Joel?"

"Gone for the day," Bill said. "Exploring the hills, and planning houses for mill workers. Say, do you teach school on Saturdays also?"

"No," said Eve. "But we're having a sort of entertainment; you know, recitations, songs, folk dances. It occurred to me that you'd enjoy that more than watching me teach. So here I am!"

"Fine!" Bill said. "You certainly did come along at the psychological moment."

"Did I? How do you mean?"

"I was desperate from sticking so close to my writing and accomplishing nothing," Bill told her. "One more day of that sort of unproductiveness, and I would have been fit for a padded cell."

"Then I'm glad I obeyed the impulse to come up," Eve said. "What's the matter, can't you make the story move along?"

"No, I can't even make it MOVE," Bill replied. Then, more brightly: "Maybe seeing this entertainment will give me a start! At least I'll be able to get right into the atmosphere of the story—I hope!"

"I hope so too," Eve said. "Hop in!" Then when Bill was in the car beside her, she said: "I'm sorry Joel's not at home. He would enjoy seeing the mountaineers perform also."

"Oh, I don't know about that," Bill said rather airily. "I'm afraid Joel sees most things from a strictly business angle."

"Just what sort of story is it you plan to write?" Eve asked, as they drove off.

"A combination romance and melodrama," Bill said. "Exciting happenings through the mountaineers, and romance through the girl whom I'll make my chief protagonist. A romance with a mountain background, so to speak."

"Getting romance out of the drawing room and putting it in a mountain cabin. Is that it?"

"Yes. . . . That's a good way as any to express it."

"And just what is it you expect of me?"

"I thought you might introduce me to some outstanding local characters," said Bill. "You know—types. Then I thought you might also know some humorous or dramatic yarns about the people up here—things that could be woven into my book."

"I see," said Eve. "Maybe you can get some ideas today from visiting the woman I'm going to call on before we go on to the school. She's just had twins, and I'm taking her some baby clothes. She's a typical mountain woman, and her name is Larseeny."

"Where on earth did she get a name like that?"

"Off a bulletin board."

"Off a—WHICH?"

"Her mother saw a notice posted down in The Gap," Eve went on. "It said that So and So was wanted for 'larceny,' and she thought it was such a 'purty' word she made up her mind to give it to her next baby as a name. . . ."

"You made that up!" Bill accused, laughing.

"I did not! Larseeny will tell you about it herself, if you want her to. She was the next baby born to her mother, and she got the result of her mother's pausing to read what was tacked on the bulletin board."

"Well," said Bill, "it certainly beats me! Anyway, her mother was original, to say the least. By the way, what has Larseeny named HER BABIES?"

"Flora and Fauna," said Eve, without batting an eye.

"Ye gods!" said Bill. Then, getting a sudden idea, he said:

"Darned if I don't believe I'll name my heroine Fauna! I might even have her become the mother of twins."

"Let's see, certainly would be a new touch to my book, since none of my heroines heretofore have gone in for that sort of thing."

Eve gave him a quick look.

"But, please remember, Bill," she said, "you are not to patronize the people up here in the hills. They won't like it. And they are very quick to see when anyone is treating them as though they were—well, freaks or curiosities."

"Good Lord, Eve," said Bill. "I would never do a thing like that! A writer has to like people—understand them—in order to get anywhere."

"Yes, I know. But the people you have known and liked and understood and put into your books are all so different from those up here. You may not know it, but some of the people in the mountains have splendid blood in their veins. They could trace their origins straight back to the finest families in Great Britain. Even now you hear bits of pure Elizabethan English spoken. One doesn't patronize people like that."

"Certainly not," said Bill. "And what you've told me gives me another idea."

"Yes. I'll have Fauna, my protagonist, a girl who is something of a throwback. She has discovered the sort of blood that flows through her veins, and feels a tremendous sense of family pride. She decides to be something in the world, and struggles to bring her family up to her high standards. This, of course, results in drama, misunderstanding—and maybe a feud. What do you think of the idea?"

"I like it," said Eve. "But you must try to understand and be sympathetic with the people you meet. Bill, it's the only way you'll ever be able to write about them honestly. Do you know, sometimes I think Joel would understand the mountaineers better than you, even if he isn't a writer?"

"Why so?"

"Because he works with people," Eve answered. "Doesn't just put them between the pages of books. I mean, coming into contact with hundreds of mill workers as he does, Joel is probably more sympathetic toward them and their many problems than you are."

"I see what you mean," Bill said thoughtfully. "However, I shan't do anything to offend the people I meet. I promise."

"Thank you," said Eve simply. They drove along in silence for a time.

Then as they were passing a stretch of land that was cool with dampness, and lush with ferns, Eve stopped the car.

"Let's gather some of those ferns," she said. "They'll look nice as decorations for the schoolhouse."

"And what ferns?" Bill commented. "Why, some of them are as high as my waist."

He jumped out of the car and opened the door for Eve.

Eve stepped down and winced as her ankle twisted a bit.

She caught hold of Bill to steady herself—and then it happened.

She was in Bill's arms. He was kissing her. It was all unbelievably sudden and unexpected. And yet Eve made no move to free herself.

She not only let Bill kiss her, but she kissed him back.

Victorian Play Enjoyed By Methodist Society

Barnhart Home Is Scene Of Meeting

Fifty-five members and guests enjoyed the Victorian play, "The Futurists", presented Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, Montclair Avenue, by members of Circle 7 of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Erwin Leist served as director and played one part in the highly successful production. Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, also a member of the cast, was heard in several excellent solos.

Other members of the cast were Miss Reba Lee, Mrs. L. S. Lytle, Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Miss Betty and Miss Medtrich Bach. The period costumes of the players was an added interest to the occasion.

When refreshments were served during the social hour, the cast members in costume served as hostesses.

Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Circle chairman, conducted the short business session. Plans were made for a bake sale at Pettit's store April 12.

Miss Anna Grimes and Mrs. Charles Fuller and their committee were in charge of the lunch.

Zelda Sewing Club

Mrs. Orville Trone, president of the Zelda Sewing Club, of the Methodist Church, read a report of work accomplished by the club during the six months ending with February at the meeting of the group Wednesday at the home of Miss Adella Huffman, East Mound Street. The organization had completed 89 miscellaneous garments; hemmed 21 tea towels for the church; hemmed one dozen diapers for the Circleville Benevolent Association; completed three wool comforters and three cotton quilts, according to Mrs. Trone's figures.

The first donation of supplies was distributed to needy children through Miss Florence Hoffman of the Corwin Street School. Since then the supplies have been distributed through the C.B.A., with 35 families receiving articles from the class, according to the report.

A cooperative luncheon was served at noon at the Huffman home, 16 members and one guest, Mrs. William Lappe, of Washington C. H. enjoying the delightful affair.

The informal social afternoon was passed in games and contests.

Scioto Grange

The first and second degrees were conferred on a class of 12 candidates Wednesday when more than 70 members of Scioto Grange gathered in Commercial Point School auditorium for the regular session. The impressive ceremonies were in charge of the officers of the grange. The class included Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Rator, Mr. and Mrs. Orin S. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hill, Miss Doris Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kauffeld, Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Hinton and Raymond Hott.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred by a visiting team at the next regular session. Dwight Bethards, worthy master, concluded the business session after the ceremonial opening of grange.

It was announced that the Scioto third and fourth degree team would serve at an initiatory service at Washington Grange Friday, March 28.

Bundles for Britain

Reports of the various committees were received by Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, president, when the Circleville unit of the Bundles for Britain met at headquarters, South Court Street, Wednesday.

It was announced that Mrs. F. D. Richey of Ashville will be in charge of used clothing and sale of articles for the organization of that village, while Mrs. Walter Hedges will handle the sale of wool and supervise the knitting activities.

A third box packed with knitted articles for Britain's armed forces had been sent this week to National Headquarters. The box contained one wool afghan; one mine-sweeper jersey; four sleeveless sweaters; six long-sleeved

Child Conservation League
When the Child Conservation League met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Karl Mason, Watt Street, 17 members heard excellent papers presented by Mrs. F. K. Blair and Mrs. Sterling Lamb. Mrs. Blair discussed "The Question of Home Work from the Mother's View," Mrs. Lamb revealing the teacher's viewpoint.

Mrs. Blair advanced the thought that time was a vital factor in a child's day and that if much homework was given, there would not be time left for the many other things which a child's day should include. For the consideration of the club she mentioned that most homes of today furnish poor study conditions because of radio, talking and guests. She brought forth the idea that homework interfered with family plans for the evening with the result that sometimes other members of the family than the child did the assignments.

Mrs. Blair advanced three principles on which the answers to the homework question may be determined, namely: 1. No task should be given which will be detrimental to the child's physical, moral and social growth; 2. No task should be assigned for which value cannot be shown; 3. In assigning of homework, the child should be considered and not children as a group.

Concluding, Mrs. Blair said, "Opportunities for participation in family activities in the present day are very few and homework should not prevent children doing the little they can; homework should be for students, who for some reason, are behind the average of the class."

Mrs. Lamb's paper was made up of the answers to a questionnaire she had presented the Circleville teachers. Her questionnaire covered many phases of the homework problem. A brief resume of her paper follows: "Homework affords discipline of the mind, the majority of teachers agreed;—homework should begin when the student needs it, depending on the individual student, but should not be given as punishment;—most children have very few chores at home so that homework does not interfere with household chores;—radio and movies do interfere with homework;—homework is necessary in certain grades because of the large amount of work to be covered during the year;—most teachers agreed that it ordinarily should be for those students who are behind in their work through absence."

Mrs. Virgil Cress announced her committee for the Jack Frost Magic show Friday, March 14, in the high school auditorium, including Mrs. J. E. Groom, Mrs. Robert D. Musser, ticket sales at High Street School; Mrs. F. K. Blair, Mrs. Cress, Franklin Street School; Mrs. H. B. Given, Mrs. Sterling Lamb, Corwin Street School; Mrs. J. I. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Howard N. Victorian Play Enjoyed By Methodist Society

Fifty-five members and guests enjoyed the Victorian play, "The Futurists", presented Wednesday at the home of Mrs. C. R. Barnhart, Montclair Avenue, by members of Circle 7 of the Woman's Society for Christian Service of the Methodist Church. Mrs. Erwin Leist served as director and played one part in the highly successful production. Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh, also a member of the cast, was heard in several excellent solos.

Other members of the cast were Miss Reba Lee, Mrs. L. S. Lytle, Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Miss Betty and Miss Meredith Bach. The period costumes of the players was an added interest to the occasion.

When refreshments were served during the social hour, the cast members in costume served as hostesses.

Mrs. Emmett Barnhart, Circle chairman, conducted the short business session. Plans were made for a bake sale at Pettit's store April 12.

Miss Anna Grimes and Mrs. Charles Fuller and their committee were in charge of the lunch.

Zelda Sewing Club

Mrs. Orville Trone, president of the Zelda Sewing Club, of the Methodist Church, read a report of work accomplished by the club during the six months ending with February at the meeting of the group Wednesday at the home of Miss Adella Huffman, East Mound Street. The organization had completed 89 miscellaneous garments; hemmed 21 tea towels for the church; hemmed one dozen diapers for the Circleville Benevolent Association; completed three wool comforters and three cotton quilts, according to Mrs. Trone's figures.

The first donation of supplies was distributed to needy children through Miss Florence Hoffman of the Corwin Street School. Since then the supplies have been distributed through the C.B.A., with 55 families receiving articles from the class, according to the report. A cooperative luncheon was served at noon at the Huffman home, 16 members and one guest, Mrs. William Lappe, of Washington C. H. enjoying the delightful affair.

The informal social afternoon was passed in games and contests.

Scioto Grange

The first and second degrees were conferred on a class of 12 candidates Wednesday when more than 70 members of Scioto Grange gathered in Commercial Point School auditorium for the regular session. The impressive ceremonies were in charge of the officers of the grange. The class included Mr. and Mrs. Carmel Rasmussen, Mr. and Mrs. Orin S. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Hill, Miss Doris Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kauffeld, Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Hinton and Raymond Hott.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred by a visiting team at the next regular session. Dwight Bethards, worthy master, concluded the business session after the ceremonial opening of grange.

It was announced that the Scioto third and fourth degree team would serve at an initiatory service at Washington Grange Friday, March 28.

Bundles for Britain

Reports of the various committees were received by Mrs. Charles G. Shulze, president, when the Circleville unit of the Bundles for Britain met at headquarters, South Court Street, Wednesday.

It was announced that Mrs. F. D. Richey of Ashville will be in charge of used clothing and sale of articles for the organization of that village, while Mrs. Walter Hedges will handle the sale of wool and supervise the knitting activities.

A third box packed with knitted articles for Britain's armed forces had been sent this week to National Headquarters. The box contained one wool afghan; one nine-sweater jersey; four sleeveless sweaters; six long-sleeved

Most Photogenic

FROM a field of 14 beauties, Miss Roberta White, above, of Cleveland, Kent State University, Kent, O., co-ed, was picked as the "most photogenic" by a board of newspaper editors and photographers. She will be the official model for 300 college and press photographers at Kent's annual short course in news photography, March 18-22.

majority of teachers agreed;—homework should begin when the student needs it, depending on the individual student, but should not be given as punishment;—most children have very few chores at home so that homework does not interfere with household chores;—radio and movies do interfere with homework;—homework is necessary in certain grades because of the large amount of work to be covered during the year;—most teachers agreed that it ordinarily should be for those students who are behind in their work through absence.

Mrs. Virgil Cress announced her committees for the Jack Frost Magician show Friday, March 14, in the high school auditorium, including Mrs. J. E. Groom, Mrs. Robert D. Musser, ticket sales at High Street School; Mrs. F. K. Blair, Mrs. Cress, Franklin Street School; Mrs. H. B. Given, Mrs. Sterling Lamb, Corwin Street School; Mrs. J. I. Smith, Jr., Mrs. Howard N. REPRIMAND BY ARMY FAILS TO END LABOR TILT

400 Striking A. F. Of L. Men Refuse To Work At Dayton With CIO Members

DAYTON, March 6—Despite a reprimand by the War Department, 400 striking A. F. of L. construction workers today gave no indication that they would return to their jobs on the expansion project at Wright Field, U. S. Army Air Corps base.

The workmen walked out when Isaac Penner, electrical contractor, employed four CIO electricians. The strikers demanded that A. F. of L. members do the wiring. The strike first was called January 29, ending soon when the CIO men were withdrawn. The latter returned to work Monday, resulting in the second walkout.

Penner charged the strike was the result of a "grudge" the A. F. of L. held against him. He stated that he was unable to get a contract in New York State because of A. F. of L. opposition.

Meanwhile, spokesmen for the striking workers scoffed at reports that the CIO had offered to furnish enough workmen to finish the project. They also denied that the CIO workmen were threatened by phone by A. F. of L. men.

Construction work totaling nearly $6,000,000 is now underway at Wright field to provide laboratory and testing facilities needed by the expanding air corps. A war department statement charged that "the A. F. of L. strike has halted construction of the wind tunnel, the torque stand, the aircraft laboratory, the administration building and the dynamometer laboratory at Wright Field."

CAROL AND LUPESCU SAFE; SEVILLE HOTEL UNPAID

LISBON, Portugal, March 6—Former King Carol of Romania and his favorite companion, Mme. Magda Lupescu, were safe in Lisbon today after a dash from Seville, Spain.

The ex-monarch and Mme. Lupescu eluded their guards in Spain, where they had been under surveillance for months, and crossed the border by automobile with the aid of false passports. Behind them, in Seville, was an unpaid hotel bill.

Today they were believed planning to continue to the United States, although their exact plans and precise whereabouts were kept secret.

Today's Menu

IF YOU never have made cream puff shells, learn to do it now. It isn't hard and you may use them in many ways — filled with creamed fish or meat, as in this recipe; filled with ice cream with chocolate or butterscotch sauce; or filled with whipped cream or a cream filling.

Today's Menu
Tomato Juice Cocktail Canapes
Cream Puff Shells Filled with Chicken a la King
Green Peas
Spiced Peaches or Pears
Olives Pickles
Chocolate Sponge Cake Coffee

Cream Puff Shells
1/2 cp. water 1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 cp. butter 1 cp. sifted flour
2 eggs
Put water, butter and salt in heavy saucepan and heat; when boiling briskly, add flour all at once, stirring energetically, and cook until mixture forms a smooth ball which leaves the sides of the pan. Stir constantly. Turn into mixing bowl and beat eggs in thoroughly one at a time; then continue beating until mixture is thick and shiny and breaks off when spoon is raised. Drop on greased making sheet, 6 to 8 equal portions. Bake puff shells in very hot oven (450 F.) for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees, and bake 20 minutes longer. Cut thin slice from top of each and fill with a la king mixture.

Chicken a la King
2 tbsps. butter 2 cps. medium
1/4 cp. celery white sauce
1/2 lb. washed 1 egg yolk fresh mush- 1 cp. cooked
rooms or and diced
1 can mush- chicken
room caps 1/4 cp. green Salt and pepper and to taste pimento
Put white sauce in top of double boiler, add slightly beaten egg yolk and blend thoroughly. Add chicken. While mixture is heating, cook diced mushrooms, diced pepper, diced celery and diced pimento over very low fire in butter. When tender, add to cream sauce mixture, cook 1 minute to blend and serve in puff shells. Garnish with fresh or canned green peas. Fish or other meats may be used in place of chicken.

REDS REPORTED MASSING FORCE ON BLACK SEA

Istanbul Dispatch Says Big Nazi Unit Within 15 Miles Of Turkish Border

agreement had been reached on Japanese mediation proposals for settlement of the French Indo-Chinese territorial dispute with Thailand (Siam).

London experienced two air raid alarms today after passing a quiet night. A Berlin announcement told of air raids by German planes yesterday against Malta, British Mediterranean stronghold, and also against the British naval base at Portsmouth.

Situation Confused

The situation in the Balkans remained confused as German troops kept pouring into and through Bulgaria. Britain began a diplomatic campaign to keep Yugoslavia out of the axis-Japanese alliance, but Balkan circles expected Yugoslavia to sign up with Berlin, Rome and Tokyo next week.

Germany will "choose its own time and method to dispose of Greece," authoritative quarters in Berlin declared today.

These same sources also indicated belief that developments in Athens "may yet produce some surprises."

(Editor's Note: Greece yesterday confirmed that it would stand beside Britain, even if Hellenic territory is invaded by German troops. Athens announced that complete agreement has been reached with Britain regarding expected developments in the war-threatened Balkans.)

Authoritative German circles indicated satisfaction with the situation both as regards Athens and Ankara.

They declared they would not be astonished if the Turks remain silent and neutral—and inactive—no matter what happens to Greece.

German sources also predicted that the Greek government may prove less inclined to listen to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's offers than to find a way to end the Greco-Italian conflict in the near future.

Firm conviction that Germany will not risk a war in the Balkans despite her present extensive military preparations was expressed by qualified sources in London.

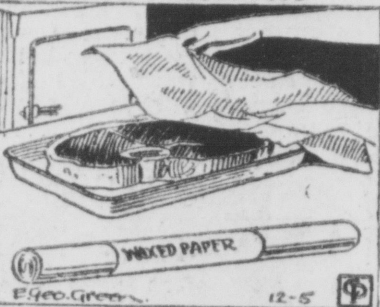

Publicly at least, British officials took the somewhat surprising view that Reichsfuehrer Hitler is merely staging a military bluff to coerce Yugoslavia and Turkey into joining the axis camp.

Everything points to a German drive against Salonika through the snowy mountains of eastern Thrace. But British officials believe Hitler will not attempt any such invasion. If he does, they say, the German army will meet firm resistance and perhaps disaster.

Messages received by the government from Foreign Secretary Eden, who has just left Athens, speak of Hitler's plans being "frustrated." From this it is inferred that Germany definitely counted on a Greek capitulation once Bulgaria was occupied.

Instead, the Greeks have officially agreed to continue to fight and full military plans have been drafted for joint Anglo-Greek resistance in Thrace should the Nazi attack be attempted.

Wife Preservers

Uncooked meat should not be covered closely when placed in the refrigerator. It should be wrapped as soon as brought into the house, and a loose sheet of waxed paper may be laid over it.

Putting a lump of butter into the rice while it is cooking, slows up the tendency of the rice to boil over. A small lump of butter in the water in which any vegetable is cooking, also gives a nice flavor to the vegetable.

If you are traveling and have no shoe horn, put the corner of a handkerchief (preferably a man's) in heel of shoe, then pull on handkerchief as you force your heel into the shoe.

"During Tuesday's raid on the Lofoten Islands," the admiralty said, "the Royal Navy sank nine German merchant vessels, one Norwegian merchant vessel under German control and one German armed trawler, totalling 18,000 tons.

"The largest ship sunk was a fully-laden German vessel of 10,000 tons.

"Two hundred and fifteen German prisoners and 10 Norwegian Quislings were captured.

"The raid was completely successful and met little opposition. One German naval officer and six German ratings were killed.

"The British forces suffered no damage or casualties."

ROME — Italian war planes bombed port installations on the Greek island of Mytilene, an official communique announced today. Italian troops counter-attacked British forces in the Keren sector of East Africa taking a number of prisoners. Three British planes were shot down in combat.

BAN ON CONVOYS AND A.E.F. VITAL

both the White House and State Department sent word to senate leaders to oppose the Ellender, O'Mahoney and Maloney amendments.

The amendment of Sen. Maloney (D. Conn.), prohibiting American ships, naval as well as merchant, from entering combat zones, gained favor.

"This amendment would be in keeping with the policy of the State Department which insists on a free hand in the Pacific," Maloney said. "It would definitely ban sending men to Europe but would not hamper the administration foreign policy in the Pacific, except as combat zones are created."

More Concessions Hinted

Further concessions were in prospect following the action of senate leaders yesterday in accepting modifying amendments. Three combined amendments, including the house limitation of $1,300,000,000 on transfer of existing army and navy defense articles, a requirement that value be fixed by department heads and the Byrd amendment prohibiting the President from using new appropriations for lease-lend purposes, were regarded by some members as important.

Another amendment prohibiting repeal of a section of the Neutrality Act which definitely prohibits American ships from carrying goods to nations at war, also may be accepted in a modified form. Sen. Gillette (D) Iowa, said that it seemed to him that "based on the statements of leaders, any amendment which does this will be acceptable."

Foes of the bill said that real rights were expected on the Ellender amendment, the Taft substitute for $2,000,000,000 credits to Britain and the proposed Walsh amendment prohibiting transfer of warships without congressional consent.

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., said he could not understand why the administration wants to defeat the Ellender amendment "if the

GEORGE Joseph Cvek, 23, of Hardsburg, Pa., has been arrested in connection with the death of Mrs. Catherine Pappas, 29, strangled to death in her Bronx (New York City) apartment. Mrs. Pappas had not been assaulted. Cvek, police said, admitted attacks and robberies of women in Philadelphia, Washington, Newark and a number of eastern cities.

QUARANTINE REMOVED

Scarlet fever quarantine has been removed from Beulah Fausnaugh, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Fausnaugh, Circleville Route 3. Dr. A. D. Blackburn, county health commissioner announced Thursday, freeing the county of quarantined disease. Miss Fausnaugh was a pupil at the Scioto Township school. Although no serious ailments are reported in any of the county schools at the present time, superintendents still report heavy absences from mumps and measles.

President intends to keep his pledge to keep us out of war and not send our boys to Europe."

NUN DETAINED IN NAZI CAMP MAY BE FREED SOON

BERLIN, N. H., March 6—Diplomatic machinery was in motion today seeking release of Sister Angeline De Pesu, American-born nun, reported held by Germans in a concentration camp in occupied France.

The State Department in Washington and Dr. Herbert Scholz, Nazi consul in Boston, were reported seeking details of the case, following appeal for intercession from Mrs. Anna Lambert Bouthet, 63 of Berlin, mother of the nun.

Sister De Jesu, unreported since last May when France surrendered, revealed her plight in a letter dated December 30, 1940, received by her mother this week. The letter bore both French and German postmarks.

Mayor Aime Tondreau and the city council telephoned the State Department and also appealed to Dr. Scholz.

Sister De Jesu, a member of the order of Colgates of Bethanie, said she and 13 other nuns were in a concentration camp at Besancon, in occupied France.

"To be able to write each other—it is an unexpected pleasure," the letter read. "We are all in very good health."

SEVEN NEW AIR CORPS SCHOOLS TO BE OPENED

WASHINGTON, March 6—Establishment of seven new air corps flying schools were announced today by the War Department, bringing to 20 the number of such projects scattered throughout the United States.

The sites for the schools are Bakersfield, Taft Field and Mather Field, Calif.; Litchfield Park, near Phoenix, Ariz.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Victoria, Tex.; and Albany, Ga.

Approximate costs, of the new schools are: Bakersfield, $2,085,000; Taft, $2,250,000; Mather $3,100,000; Phoenix $2,500,000; Las Vegas, $2,725,000; Victoria $2,300,000; and Albany $2,355,000.

Instruction is scheduled to start at the schools about June 7, the department announced.

PLENTY OF FISH FOR LENT

BOSTON. — Lent this year is expected to be the biggest fish-eating period in the nation's history, reaching 250,000,000 pounds, or 25 percent more than "normal" consumption, with inland areas, registering the biggest gains, government estimates indicate.

INSIDE STUFF

A stenographer expends as much energy in a day as a ditch-digger.

YOU CAN'T BUY ON LOOKS ALONE

Not all good-looking hardware, unfortunately, is good hardware. The best plan is to buy from a dealer who puts his personal guarantee on what he sells. In our time, we've turned down some mighty attractive merchandise because we knew it wouldn't give proper service... and if we DO sell you anything that doesn't give championship performance, we'll make good in a hurry. When we buy from our wholesalers, we consider price, quality and service. You benefit from that consideration.

SARAZEN, HOGAN BLAST PAR, WIN SOUTHERN CASH

CORAL GABLES, Fla., March 6—Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan were the new international four-ball golf champions today. They lowered par by 13 strokes for 33 holes in defeating Ralph Guldahl and Sam Snead in yesterday's title round, and collected $1,000 each for the victory. Guldahl and Snead split $1,000.

It was Sarazen's second triumph in the event, which he also won 13 years ago with Johnny Farrell as his partner.

CONN FAVORED TO WIN BATTLE IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, March 6—Billy Conn, contender for the heavyweight crown of Champion Joe Louis, today was a five-to-one favorite for his 15-round bout in Washington tonight with Danny Hassett of Philadelphia.

A crowd of 8,000 is expected, despite a consensus of opinion among fight fans that Hassett will be at the mercy of the former light-heavyweight champion anytime after the seventh round. Reservations have been made for Joe Louis to watch Conn in action. The two will meet this June.

WALKER VICTOR IN FIFTH ROUND IN DETROIT GO

DETROIT, March 6—Buddy Walker, Columbus, O., heavyweight, last night scored a five-round technical knockout over Joe O'Gatty, Newark, N. J., before 1,052 fans in Naval Armory.

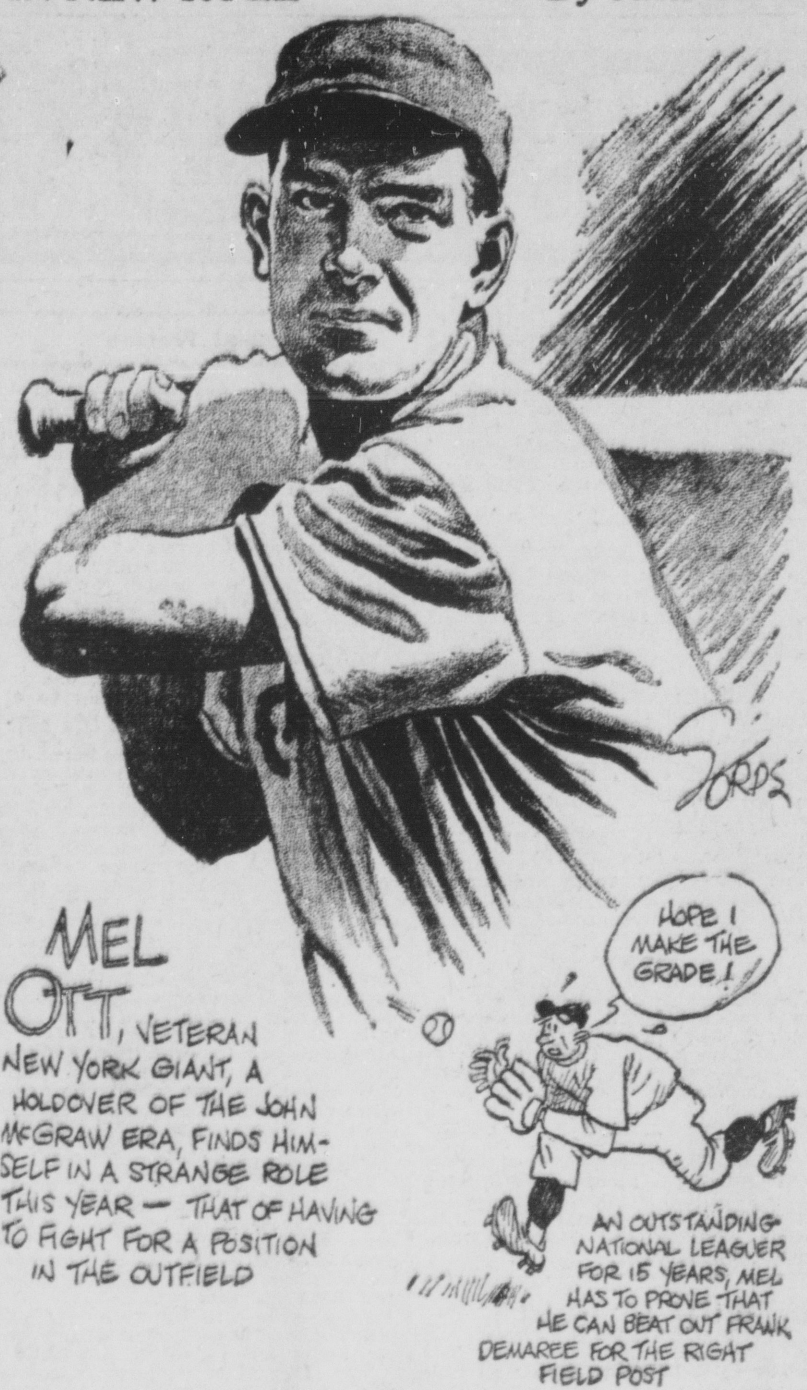

Referee Sam McCall stopped the fight after O'Gatty began to bleed from a cut over the left eye.

SIMON'S RIGHT; HIS TITLE BOUT WILL END EARLY

Big Abe Believes He Can Blast Louis; "Contest" To Be In Detroit

By Pat Robinson INS Sports Writer

Abe Simon—who looks like a neanderthal man, talks like a Gene Tunney and fights like a longshoreman—reaches Detroit today to join Joe Louis' "Sack of the Month" club.

This "Sack of the Month" club is a little private affair that the heavyweight champion maintains for the amusement of himself and friends. It boasts an exclusive clientele, too, numbering such socially acceptable gents as Max Schmeling, Max Baer, Tony Galento, Bob Pastor and Red Burman.

Membership is restricted to those with a yen to make a fast dollar and be crowned in a hurry by Joe.

Abe will be duly inducted into the club on March 21 in a party scheduled for 20 rounds but Abe assured us, no later than yesterday, that the party won't last that long. How right he is.

You've seen Abe, of course? Low forehead, beetling brows, arms like small oaks, rather spindly legs and a huge torso, totalling in all, some 260 pounds on the hoof.

Like Gargantua

Abe will never take any beauty prizes away from Clark Gable or Robert Taylor. In fact, as he says himself, he looks a good deal like Gargantua with a haircut.

But a heart of pure gold, boys, a heart of gold.

He also has that aforesaid yen to make a fast dollar. In fact, as he told us, only a punch or two stands between him and a million bucks. But let him tell you himself:

"The way I figure it, anything can happen in a heavyweight fight. One punch can end it and it's a cinch this one isn't going to last very long. If I can land one on Louis' jaw—and I'm sure I can I'll be a millionaire. Think of it—just one punch and I'm in the chips. Ain't that worth shooting for?"

We admitted the prospect surely had its pleasant aspects but suggested that Louis might land the punch, to which our hero responded:

"What if he does? He can't hurt me. Nobody can hurt me. I'm too big and strong. Look at those dogs. (Abe shoved out his No. 14s) how is anybody going to knock me over? Nobody has yet and I've met some pretty good punchers."

GALE GRIDDERS CALLED

LANCASTER, March 6—Coach Esko Sarkkinen, who will lead the football destinies of Lancaster High School next fall, has called his squad members to report next Monday for initial spring drills.

Little Conditioning Work Necessary for Champions

TAMPA, Fla., March 6—This spring training doesn't present any great conditioning problems for the Cincinnati Reds, champions of the world. They're down here in Tampa, preparing for the 1941 National League pennant race, minus the reducing worries that confront the members of most ball clubs after a winter of idleness.

Bill McKechnie is happy that he will be able to condition his men with the routine procedure, and not forced to resort to drastic measures with any of his regulars. He is happy because his men seemed to have taken their situations seriously all during the off season, which is just another indication that the Reds are so good because they pay attention to their business.

The Reds are a big team. Except for a few isolated cases such as Linus Frey and Eddie Joost, they are a team of huskies. Many of the men are inclined to take on weight if not careful. Paul Derringer, a 230 pounder, is a few pounds lighter today that he was the day he pitched the deciding game of the last world series. Gene Thompson and Frank McCormick, who finished up about 207 last fall, are now only a pound or two over their regular weight. Why, a couple of the boys, one of them Ival Goodman, the regular rightfielder, reported a few pounds underweight.

Many ball clubs have eaten themselves out of pennant races, and the Reds seem to be preserving their condition seems to come naturally with them. It is a fact that most of the better members of the squad are the small eaters. It is also a fact that Eddie Joost, the thin man, who probably will be the regular shortstop, is one of the most prolific eaters among all of the champions. It is doubtful whether there is a man who can pack away as much food as Joost. Yet stay so thin. It would be a great help to Joost and the Reds if he would put on a few pounds, but nothing like this happens no matter how he packs it away.

Turner An Eater

While on the subject of appetites, it becomes necessary to mention James Turner, of Nashville, Tenn., who really goes for his meat and potatoes. Turner weighs 190 pounds. He is the same today as he was several years ago, probably because he is such a hard worker. He has to work hard to throw off the tremendous amount of food he puts into his system. There is nothing fancy about what he eats. He likes the staples, but in a quantity that would floor most men.

McKechnie doesn't have to worry about the condition of Turner. Neither does he have to worry about the rest of the men on whom he is counting. Apparently, they are champions off the field, as well as on it.

Bucky Walters, ace Cincinnati pitcher, never tans. In the middle of the summer he looks like a fellow who has been indoors all the while the sun is shining.

Paul Derringer says that a pitcher should condition his legs and get his wind in shape before worrying about his arm. Arm trouble usually develops from uncertain footing, thinks Paul.

Monte Pearson says he never was troubled with a lame back last year. It was a sore arm that put him on the shelf during the season, and he has completely recovered from that injury, he says.

WILLIAM BOWMAN JOINS ARMY, GOES TO EL PASO

William Bowman, former Pickaway Country Club golf professional, has been called up for army service, and has been sent to El Paso, Texas. Brown, who has been living in Chillicothe, is a major. He has been active in army circles for many years.

WOOSTER PICKS KATE

WOOSTER, March 6—Kate, of Wooster, today looked forward to the 1941-42 basketball season at Wooster College with more than usual interest. Kate was the unanimous choice for captain of next year's Wooster College basketball team. Kate has starred in football, basketball and golf at Wooster. During the last basketball season he scored 129 points for the proteges of Mose Hole.

COUNCILMEN DISCUSS ABANDONMENT OF PARALLEL PARKING IN UPTOWN

ABUSE OF LAW CITED BY SOME CITY OFFICIALS

Business District Usually Congested By Double, Triple Lines

STREET REPAIR TALKED

Morgan To Advise For Bids On Big Supply Of Materials

Centering their discussion on the city's parking problem, councilmen Wednesday night considered plans to abandon parallel parking on Main Street. No official action was taken however.

Abuse of the present system of parallel parking prompted the discussion, with reports from councilmen that overtime double and triple parking on Main Street had congested the uptown section and made through traffic almost impossible.

Councilman Ben H. Gordon told his colleagues that merchants on Main Street had expressed dissatisfaction with the present parking system, many of them favoring the old system of angle parking.

The possibility of establishing 20-degree angle parking on both Main and Court streets was discussed. The system is being used in other small cities and has been suggested as an alternative to parallel parking by Traffic Officer Miller Fissell. Under the 20 degree parking plan, no more parking space would be available than under the present system, although an additional six feet of space, three feet on each side of the center line, would be available for travel.

Opponents of the change point out that angle parking would only tend to congest Main Street further, with cars double parked behind those already angle parked and providing less space for through traffic than at present. Also, with Route 22 declared a federal highway for the through transportation of troops, no angle parking or double parking would be permitted by the government, some officials point out.

To Repair Streets

During Wednesday night's meeting a resolution was passed instructing the service director to advertise for bids for from 2,000 to 120,000 gallons of asphalt and 2,000 tons of crushed stone for city street repair. Although the service department is not expected to use nearly that amount, cheaper prices may be obtained by buying in large lots. Service Director Leonard Morgan said, and under the terms of the contract the city will be permitted to take the materials as they are needed. Repair of city streets is expected to start as soon as the weather permits, the service director said.

No action was suggested on the liquor ordinance, regulating opening and closing hours for Circleville liquor establishments, the ordinance remaining in the ordinance committee. Councilman William Reid, who, at the last council meeting urged that the measure be placed before council for a final showdown, was absent from Wednesday night's meeting. Collections for Berger Hospital for February totaled $2,158.60, according to a report submitted to Council by Safety Director Karl Herrmann. Revenue collected at the police department, including bonds, fines and fees, totaled $439.40, Mayor William Cady reported.

Two Democratic Office Holders Have Funds Cut

COLUMBUS, March 6—There was only gloom in the office of State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson today, for he saw his budget request for $228,826 for 1941 and $205,226 for 1942 whittled by the governor to $153,600 and $145,000, respectively.

Ferguson is a Democrat and Governor Bricker a Republican, and during the last election the auditor's office furnished much of the ammunition that went into Democratic campaign guns.

At that, the governor consented to appropriate about $17,000 more for Ferguson's office for the next two years than was spent there during the last two.

The auditor wanted to boost his payroll from $122,411 for 1940 to $177,513 this year, but Bricker said no and recommended $128,000.

Ferguson's chief worry, however, was the treatment accorded his request for $17,460 to buy new office equipment. His office admittedly is the most poorly furnished in the statehouse, but the Bricker budget recommended only $942 to relieve that condition.

Then, too, the auditor wanted $2400 for automobiles in 1941 and a like amount next year, but the governor slashed one $1200 item to a bare $100 and eliminated a $1400 item entirely. So, it appeared that Ferguson will have to investigate the used car market.

Besides the money for cars, he wanted $3600 a year for travel expenses, more than twice the amount spent last year, but again saw his budget request shrink as Bricker allowed only $1116.

Secretary of State John Sweeney, the only other elective Democratic state official, fared relative worse than Ferguson for Bricker proposed to give him $8,000 less than Sweeney's Repub-

At that, the governor consented to appropriate about $17,000 more for Ferguson's office for the next two years than was spent there during the last two.

The auditor wanted to boost his payroll from $122,411 for 1940 to $177,513 this year, but Bricker said no and recommended $128,000.

Ferguson's chief worry, however, was the treatment accorded his request for $17,460 to buy new office equipment. His office admittedly is the most poorly furnished in the statehouse, but the Bricker budget recommended only $942 to relieve that condition.

Then, too, the auditor wanted $2400 for automobiles in 1941 and a like amount next year, but the governor slashed one $1200 item to a bare $100 and eliminated a $1400 item entirely. So, it appeared that Ferguson will have to investigate the used car market.

Besides the money for cars, he wanted $3600 a year for travel expenses, more than twice the amount spent last year, but again saw his budget request shrink as Bricker allowed only $1116.

Secretary of State John Sweeney, the only other elective Democratic state official, fared relative worse than Ferguson for Bricker proposed to give him $8,000 less than Sweeney's Republican predecessors spent in the last biennium.

Roadside Report Stations

WASHINGTON, — Roadside reporting stations to check trucking of supplies and prospective market arrivals of fruits and vegetables are the latest means the department of agriculture may employ to obtain needed information about shipping conditions.

HOG PRICES DOWN LITTLE AT CIRCLEVILLE AUCTION

Hog prices dropped from their $8 high of last week to a $7.85 high Wednesday at the Pickaway Livestock Association sale. A total of 320 hogs was sold during the afternoon.

No good to choice cattle forced the cattle market up 25 to 50 cents above last week's figures. Choice calves sold for as high as $12.60, and lambs for as high as $10.30.
